

New Urban Affairs Council Established

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon assembled his new Urban Affairs Council today to discuss the crises in America's cities and as the first order of business signed an executive order creating the panel.

Nixon used a succession of pens during the ceremony and joked about the difficulty of signing his name one small stroke at a time. The pens will be distributed as mementoes.

"My name is not long enough," Nixon said. "This is a first for me. This is going to be the most illegible signature. I'm a scrawler."

Members of the eight-man council, which includes half of the Cabinet, stood behind Nixon as the President, seated at the Cabinet table, signed the order.

Nixon envisions that panel as the domestic counterpart of the National Security Council planning and implementing efforts to deal with big city problems.

Its first session, presumably was set up as largely procedural, for the naming of staff members to conduct its day-to-day work, including sociologist Daniel P. Moynihan, assistant to the President for urban affairs.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, Secretary of Labor George P. Shultz, Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin, Secretary of Housing and Urban Development George Romney, Secretary of Transportation John A. Volpe, and Vice President Spiro T. Agnew also will be regular council members.

A Nixon meeting Wednesday with Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy produced a pledge that the new administration will contain "inherited inflationary pressures that are seriously distorting the economy and financial markets."

Kennedy said the Nixon administration will "try to get through this by taking just the steam out of the boiler, the high pressure," without disruptive economic measures which might hoist unemployment.

"We are all conscious of the risks of abrupt and blunt action that could bring unnecessary unemployment. We mean to avoid that," Kennedy said in a statement which bore Nixon's endorsement.

"But we are equally conscious of the risks of not moving decisively, because inflation is undermining both the foundation of our prosperity at home and our balance of payments position."

Kennedy listed budget control, monetary policy and the 10 per cent income surtax as among the tools the new administration would use in the effort to stem inflation.

But he was less than optimistic about prospects for substantial reduction of the budget. He said he considers it "a very tight budget. My own view is that it's going to be very difficult to reduce expenditures substantially."

Both Mayo and Kennedy said the ultimate decision will depend on the size of the budget, the expense of the war in Vietnam, and the overall economic situation.

Kennedy read his prepared statement on inflation control after naming his two top deputies.

Ready to Consider Any Alternate Election Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh served notice today a subcommittee he heads will consider all alternatives to the present system of electing a president, but renewed his call for direct election by popular vote.

Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, assistant Republican leader, proposed a constitutional amendment to do away with the office of presidential elector but to allocate electoral votes by congressional districts rather than states. Other alternatives to the Electoral College system are pending.

Bayh spoke out as his subcommittee on constitutional amendments reopened hearings on the various proposals—including Bayh's amendment for direct popular election of presidents.

Called as a leadoff witness by Subcommittee chairman Birch Bayh, D-Ind., were three senators, two of them advocates of direct popular election.

Tennessee's Howard H. Baker Jr. and Oklahoma's Henry Bellmon, both Republicans, are among more than 30 sponsors of a constitutional amendment that would abolish the electoral college and replace it with a direct election system.

The third witness, Republican Peter H. Dominick, of Colorado, supports elements of two rival plans, one providing for a division of electoral votes in proportion to the popular vote and the Scott proposal.

Scott told the Senate his proposal would improve the present system and "end this problem of the disenfranchised voter by doing away with the winner-take-all method."

"It will tend to strengthen the two-party system, the real bulwark of our government, by encouraging the minority party in currently one-party states," he added.

"More importantly, it will not enhance the chances of splinter parties because they have little hope of diverting more than a few electoral votes from one major party candidate," Scott said.

Under Scott's plan, a presidential ticket winning the plurality of a state's popular vote would win two electoral votes corresponding to the state's representation in the Senate.

The ticket also would win one additional electoral vote for each congressional district it carried by a plurality.

Juvenile Delinquency Rate Up

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Juvenile delinquency in Missouri increased by 17 per cent during 1967, according to Proctor N. Carter, state welfare director.

In a report issued today, welfare statistics show it was the fifth highest yearly increase on record.

Referrals for delinquent behavior other than traffic offenses increased to 20,697 from 17,691 in 1966. There were 9,722 referrals for traffic offenses, up from 8,334 for 1966 or an increase of 16.7 per cent.

In 1948 juvenile courts handled 4,786 cases. The figure for 1967 represents an increase of 332.4 per cent. During this same 20-year period the child population 10 to 16 years of age increased by about one-fourth.

The report shows delinquency is primarily an urban problem. Eleven counties in Missouri classified as metropolitan for statistical purposes contained 46 per cent of the child population 10 to 16 years of age. Yet, these same counties reported 17,063 non-traffic delinquency referrals in 1967—more than 80 per cent of all cases during the year.

St. Louis County reported the largest number of non-traffic referrals with 5,343, an increase of 26.5 per cent.

The city of St. Louis was next with 5,090, a decrease of 1.7 per cent from 1966.

Jackson County, including a part of Kansas City, referred 3,827—an increase of 12.3 per cent over 1966.

Types of delinquency varied with age and sex. Larceny accounted for the largest number of referrals for all age groups except the 15-year-olds, who got into trouble most often by running away.

Running away was also the most common offense among girls. Larceny accounted for most of the referrals involving boys of all age groups.

Places of detention varied widely between urban and rural areas. In urban counties specialized facilities were used in over 90 per cent of delinquency cases requiring overnight detention. In rural areas juveniles kept overnight were detained in jails in 77 per cent of all cases.

Informal Meeting

President Nixon meets informally with Treasury Secretary David M. Kennedy, left with back to camera, and Paul A. Volcker, under-secretary for monetary affairs, in his office at the White House.

After the meeting, Kennedy announced he would begin working on "taking the steam out of" the nation's over-heated economy. (UPI)

Introduce Over 250 New Bills

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Missouri's House of Representatives Wednesday topped the 250 mark in bills and constitutional amendments introduced since the start of the 75th General Assembly Jan. 8.

On adjournment Wednesday the House had received 242 bills and 22 constitutional amendments. One of the latest actions was adoption of a resolution creating a special committee to review complaints about Missouri's new motor vehicle inspection law. The Senate recently received a resolution seeking a 60-day moratorium on the law.

The House Committee will consist of seven members who are expected to submit a preliminary report within seven days. It will have 21 days to submit final recommendations.

The Senate Resolutions Committee plans to meet next Monday at 2 p.m. to study the moratorium proposal.

Another bill introduced Wednesday would make it a felony instead of a misdemeanor to continue an unlawful assembly after being warned. It also would make it a felony to incite a riot.

Popular Newspaper Editor Dies; Age 73

Stanton Hudson, 73, former editor and publisher of the Sedalia Times, died at 11:45 Wednesday night at Mercy Hospital, Fort Scott, Kan., where he had been a patient for two weeks receiving treatment for a heart condition.

Stanton Hudson

Hudson was born in Fort Scott, Aug. 17, 1895, son of District Judge Bannus Hudson and Mrs. Virginia Hudson. Following graduation from Fort Scott High school he served in the 35th Division, during World War I, and was in the battles of St. Mihiel, and the Meuse-Argonne.

Returning to Fort Scott he was married to Frances Strong and was employed by the Borden Milk Co. He came to Sedalia in August, 1929, to work as a printer for the Hurlbut Printing Co.

In 1934, he went to Oklahoma and was employed by newspapers there before returning to Sedalia in 1936 to be associated with Dan M. Carr, Jr., in publication of the Sedalia Times. He became sole owner of the newspaper and commercial printing business in 1948.

The Times, located on West Second street, ceased publication in 1962 when Hudson retired. In 1963 he returned to Fort Scott.

While editor of the Times, Hudson established a reputation in Sedalia, and journalism circles in general, as a "crusading" newspaperman.

Perhaps the one incident for which Hudson will be remembered the longest

Sales Tax For Cities Is Proposed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The Missouri House got proposals today to give cities a local sales tax of up to a half cent on the dollar and to solve the highway problem by issuing road bonds.

The sales tax plan was offered by Rep. Thomas A. Walsh, D-St. Louis. It would permit cities of 10,000 or more to levy the tax which would be collected along with the state sales tax. The state then would return to the taxing cities the amount collected within their borders.

It was Gov. Warren E. Hearnes' recommendation as a local way to solve a local problem. Some city mayors, including Mayor A. J. Cervantes of St. Louis, have protested that a local sales tax would drive business out of their cities.

They want the state to levy a tax and share it with the cities. Walsh said some legislators from rural areas already have asked that the population limit be lowered to 2,500 so their communities could take advantage of the local sales tax plan.

Suspect Pueblo Captain Of Violating Regulations

CORONADO, Calif. (AP) — A Navy court told Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher Wednesday that he was suspected of violating naval regulations in surrendering the intelligence ship Pueblo to the North Koreans. He was informed by the five admirals constituting a court of inquiry that anything he said from now on might be used against him in court-martial proceedings.

But Bucher, obviously shaken by the statement, said he would continue to give "full details" of the Pueblo's capture and of the 11 months he and his 81 surviving crewmen spent in captivity.

Bucher resumes his testimony today—the first anniversary of the seizure of the ship by the North Koreans.

Wednesday Bucher, 41, described how he gave up the Pueblo with her guns still covered. The court recessed briefly after he told of "receiving" aboard a party of North Korean riflemen about 20 miles off Wonsan Harbor and how they prodded his crew to sitting positions on the deck.

After their return, his face tensed as he heard counsel for the Navy, Capt. William Newsome declare: "Commander Bucher it is my duty to tell you that facts revealed in this court of inquiry render you to be suspect of a violation of USNR Article 0730."

A court of inquiry is not a military trial, like a court-martial, but only an investigative hearing. Nevertheless Bucher's status suddenly had changed from "a party to the court" to "suspect." Shortly after the crew's release just before Christmas at least two Navy admirals had called Bucher and his men heroes.

With a Brooklyn twang, Newsome quoted regulations: "The commanding officer shall not permit his command to be searched by any person representing a foreign state nor permit any person representing a foreign state nor permit any other personnel under his command to be removed from that command by such a person, so long as he has the power to resist."

Bucher's civilian attorney, E. Miles Harvey, immediately demanded, "Commander, at the time the North Koreans first set foot on your ship did you any longer have the power to resist?"

"No, I did not," Bucher answered.

"Commander Bucher remains fervent in his desire to tell this court the full details," Harvey said.

The Navy, through Wednesday,

day, had raised these points against Bucher:

1. That he failed to comprehend fully the possibility of an attack. For example:

Q. Vice Admiral Harold G. Bowen Jr.: "Did you ever consider an attack and what you would do?"

A. Bucher: "No sir, I never considered I would ever be attacked on this mission. It never occurred to me. It never occurred to me nor did it cross my mind that I would ever be put in the position I found myself in that afternoon."

2. That his men weren't issued small arms.

Q. Bowen: "How about small arms for the men?"

A. Bucher: "Small arms were

At Least 28 People Killed by Tornadoes

HAZLEHURST, Miss. (AP) — Tornadoes ripped across central Mississippi early today, killing at least 28 persons and injuring more than 100.

The heaviest damage was reported at Hazlehurst, about 30 miles south of Jackson, where a twister cut a half-mile wide swath and left 10 persons dead and 15 to 20 homes demolished.

The Mississippi Highway Patrol said seven persons were killed by twisters in adjoining Simpson County between Mendenhall and Harrisville.

Police said a twister killed four persons in one house near White Oak, east of the Harrisville-Mendenhall area.

Hospitals at Hazlehurst and Mendenhall were reported filled and victims of the tornadoes were being sent to hospitals in Jackson.

The violent storm touched down a mile south of Hazlehurst at 6:25 a.m. CST and cut a destructive swath one mile long and one half mile wide.

The U.S. Weather Bureau issued a tornado warning for a large portion of central Mississippi and said a tornado was spotted in the Mendenhall-D'Lo area about 40 miles east-northeast of here.

Call for Tax Help Should Be Delayed

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — The State Revenue Department pleaded with taxpayers today not to call for income tax help until Feb. 3.

That is the date its toll-free taxpayer assistance phone will be working.

Old Robbery Case Is Revived

By RALPH JONES
Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

A 32-years-old robbery conviction in Pettis County has been revived in Circuit Court here.

Wednesday, a motion to vacate sentence under the provisions of State Supreme Court Rule 27.26 was filed by Ralph Gabriel in Circuit Court.

In the motion Gabriel maintains he was denied his constitutional rights during, and prior to, his trial.

Gabriel was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment for robbing George Walz of $5 and a pocketbook valued at less than ten cents, by a Pettis County jury, on Jan. 27, 1937. The robbery allegedly occurred on Dec. 12, 1936.

Specifically, Gabriel maintains his constitutional rights were denied in that prior to the trial he was not advised of his rights, that he had no legal representation prior to his trial, that there was no arraignment nor preliminary hearing, that no warrant had been served on him, that in his trial his attorneys were incompetent in that they did not advise him of his rights and they did not render proper legal support.

John Montgomery and John C. McCloskey were his court-appointed attorneys in the trial. Judge Dimmitt Hoffman was Circuit Judge then.

Under the Supreme Court Rule the court here may vacate the sentence, conduct a new trial or correct the sentence.

Procedures have changed somewhat since that trial in 1937. Then, Gabriel's two previous felony convictions were taken into consideration in setting the sentence, which was determined by the jury.

Now, the sentence of a man with previous convictions would be determined by the Court, not the jury. The jury would only determine the individual's guilt or innocence, and the sentence would be determined by the judge, under the Habitual Criminal Act, within the limits of current law.

In 1937 the jury was required to assess the maximum penalty for the offense, considering the previous convictions.

Child's Viewpoint On Unwed Mothers

Dear Ann Landers: I think maybe I can help that lady who gave up her baby for adoption and signed herself "Bitter." She said she cried every night for 10 years because the social worker and her minister advised her to give her child up. Now she says it was the biggest mistake of her life.

Top Parisians Have Complaints On Prostitutes

By JOHN VINOCUR
Associated Press Writer

PARIS (AP) — The rich and elegant residents of the French capital's most exclusive street are pestering the police to close the prostitutes away from their front gates.

The complaints come from the Avenue Foch, the wide, leafy thoroughfare that is home in Paris to Aristotle Onassis, Sophia Loren and a thousand other wealthy capitalists, conspicuous consumers and society page fixtures.

After dark prostitutes in minicars come from outside the area to prowl the avenue while a few others take station in front of the mansions and luxurious apartment houses. They like Avenue Foch because it is quiet and free of heavy automobile and pedestrian traffic.

The girls in cars stop for men waiting along the street or flash their lights at a car with only a man in it. The residents find the lights annoying, also.

"I know it's extremely disagreeable to these people," said the chief of the vice squad, Pierre Ottavio. "We're harassing the girls as best we can and arrests are made every night. But the girls are clever, and arrests are not easy."

An arrest can't be made until a girl actually solicits a customer. Ottavio says the Avenue Foch girls seem to have a sixth sense about plainclothesmen and only make their approach when they find someone who looks "manageable" and "not like a cop."

The police estimate that only about 30 girls work the Avenue Foch and nearby Boulevard Lannes, near the Bois de Boulogne.

I am a child who was kept by an unmarried mother and am therefore in a position to know what it's like from the child's point of view. My life was hell. When I was six years old I knew what "bastard" meant. I was left out of things and told to "go home." I was blackballed from a club when I was 15 because they couldn't have a member whose mother was a "Miss."

My mother kept saying, "Those people are ignorant. Don't pay any attention to them." And of course she was right, but an adolescent feels more than he reasons, and I suffered in ways that no child should have to suffer. The emotional damage of being raised by an unmarried mother was enormous. I know she meant well, but I would not do to a child what she did to me. My mother's "love" was, as you put it so well, "selfishness turned inside out."

Don't ever change your stand, Ann. You are right. — OTHER SIDE

Dear Side: Thanks for the assist. I intend to stay with this point of view, in spite of the criticism of those who think I am heartless and unfeeling.

Dear Ann Landers: I just finished reading the letter signed "Color Us Nauseated." She was complaining about a couple of lovebirds at the office who were forever pawing and making eyes at each other. When one went to the water cooler, the other followed. They held hands by the pencil sharpener and smooched behind the file cabinet.

She shouldn't complain, Ann. At least those lovebirds are a girl and a fella. There are two guys in our office who like each other and it's more than we can stand. I hope you will print this letter so the gal who wrote will see it. Some people don't know when they are well off. If she'll send us her couple, we'll send her ours. — CHICAGO

Dear Chicago: To each his own. Or her own. Or its own. Or — oh well — thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: All of us have seen ourselves in your column at one time or another. Please say something about people who are dieting. Maybe they will recognize themselves and stop boring all their friends with what they are eating, what they are not eating, and how they are starving to death.

In the past two days I have had my ear talked off by five friends who insist on filling me in on all the tiresome details — pounds lost, inches off — and even the menus. I couldn't care less. Print my letter, Ann. It will be your good deed for the day. — FED UP ON THE UNDERFED

Dear Fed: Thanks for putting my words in your mouth. Bless you.

How will you know when the real thing comes along? Ask Ann Landers. Send for her booklet "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference." Send 35 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope. (c) 1969, Publishers-Hall Syndicate

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Mayor Ivan Allen Jr. took office seven years ago as a segregationist. He will leave at the end of this year with a national reputation for championing civil rights.

Allen says he changed when he saw "the horrors of segregation" during the turbulent years of the civil rights movements in the South.

"I was exposed to the obvious horrors of segregation and the tragedies of segregation and the more I was exposed to it, the more I understood the problem," he said in an interview.

How well he understood the problems can be measured by his emergency as one of the nation's most successful big city leaders. During his years in office, Atlanta gained a national reputation for peaceful integration and race relations.

Allen, courtly and silver-haired at 57, has a quick grin and tireless energy which seem to make him seem much younger.

A man who once, as mayor, erected a physical barrier on an Atlanta street to separate the races, he later was one of the few local leaders to join the march honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. on the day of his funeral.

He has also upgraded black employment in city government, fought for decent housing, supported the public accommodation law, and integrated the city's swimming pools. He personally led a group of Negroes into the cafeteria, dropping barriers in City Hall.

Champion for Civil Rights

And he now considers supporting the barrier on Peyton Road—called "the Berlin Wall" by Negroes—to be one of the worst blots against his record.

The ebullient Allen used the announcement that he would not seek re-election to issue the strongest plea of his career to the community to come to grips with racial unity.

Now, Allen said, he could speak "with complete freedom" and no one could say, "You're seeking the Negro vote."

The mayor said the Negro must be raised to a decent economic and social position if "Atlanta is to be a strong city in the future."

"We can't go to polarization of the races and survive as a dynamic city," Allen told members of the Atlanta Rotary Club, who greeted his announcement of not seeking re-election with cries of "No."

In the interview, Allen said the racial problem is the greatest problem facing Atlanta — and all cities east of the Mississippi.

"We've got to eliminate prejudice to the extent that every man is accepted for what he is and not his color," Allen said.

A wealthy man, reared in the old Southern traditional white views on race, Allen readily admits he was a segregationist.

"We all were before the Supreme Court outlawed it," he said.

Those of us who followed the rulings of the court changed. Most of the changes came in the early 1960's. And when confronted, we tried to the right thing."

When King was named Nobel Peace Prize winner in 1964, Allen was instrumental in the city's honoring him at a homecoming dinner.

And when King was felled by an assassin's bullet at Memphis in April 1968, Allen was one of the first to arrive at the King home, personally drove Mrs. King to the airport to fly to Memphis.

Of his part in the funeral march, Allen says:

"As Martin Luther King Jr. was borne to his grave, nowhere was his dream of nonviolence more meaningful than in his home town."

Nixon's Arrival Changes Island

Presidential Palms

Above, the three-bedroomed house on Key Biscayne, Fla., which President-elect Nixon bought for $127,000. It has a 200 foot waterfront and is painted pale blue. The house next door (below), which Nixon plans to buy also, belongs at present to retiring U.S. Senator George Smathers. (AP)

The New Neighbors

President Nixon shakes friendly hands as he and his family leave the Presbyterian Church, on Key Biscayne, Fla. He has bought a beachfront house there, and the 5,000 residents of the island expect him to join them, as he has often done in the past, to seek temporary relief from the tensions and worry of politics.

EDITOR'S NOTE — When Dwight D. Eisenhower was president, his farm in Gettysburg, Pa., served as a kind of second White House. When John F. Kennedy wanted to get away, he joined his family at the Hyannisport complex. President Lyndon B. Johnson spent many a weekend at his Texas ranch. And Richard M. Nixon will use Key Biscayne, Fla., as his haven.

By BEN FUNK
Associated Press Writer
KEY BISCAINE, Fla. (AP) — This is a tight little subtropical isle where for many years people could come and "get away from it all" just 15 minutes by car from the neon-blazoned heart of Miami. But now, suddenly, the quiet life is gone — for four years at least. Because one of the men who discovered this easygoing haven from the rat race was Richard M. Nixon.

Since 1951, when he first came here to unwind from the tensions of a tough U.S. Senate race in California, the island has been his favorite hideaway.

The residents of Key Biscayne, a 2,300-acre paradise nestled among thousands of to wering coconut palm trees waving in the trade winds, are bursting with pride because Dick Nixon is their neighbor. But they know that the languid life they loved must be sacrificed.

Hordes of sightseers undoubtedly will swarm across the Rickenbacker Causeway from Miami, trying to see the Nixon home or to get a glimpse of him and his family.

Already, there have been complaints about traffic snarls on Crandon Boulevard, the island's main road, which narrows from four to two lanes as it approaches the area of the Nixon home.

"Minutes after Nixon was declared president-elect after a hot race with Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, he was on a plane bound for Key Biscayne. Since then, he has been busily preparing the site of the "Little White House."

Club Notes

Garden Club No. 7 met Jan. 10 at the home of Mrs. A. Maxwell, 2000 West Broadway, with nine members present. Mrs. H. M. Shelby assisted with the dessert course served.

Mrs. Phillip Hoffman, president, was in charge of the business meeting.

Mrs. Leonard Hall presented the topic, "My Indoor Garden."

CLARKSBURG — The Association of WMU meeting Jan. 20 at the Clarksburg Baptist Church had the Rev. Jones as guest speaker. Films were shown with his narration.

He has purchased the home of a wealthy Cuban exile, Manuel Arca Jr., a rambling, pale-blue structure valued at $127,000 which sits 200 feet from the shore of Biscayne Bay. Next door is the home of retiring U.S. Sen. George Smathers, which Nixon has used before and also plans to buy.

Just beyond the Smathers home is that of C.G. "Bebe" Rebozo, a banker who took Nixon fishing on his first trip to the island and since has become his confidant and friend.

Legend says Ponce de Leon came ashore in 1513 and named the island Santa Maria. It was a hideout for Black Caesar and other buccaneers preying on the treasure ships of the Spanish Main. A red brick lighthouse still standing on Cape Florida at the south end of the island was erected in 1824 to foil wreckers who lured ships onto the offshore reefs and stripped them bare.

In 1902, William J. Matheson,

New York capitalist and yachtmen, "discovered" the island, bought a large tract of land, cleared a yacht basin and planted Malayan coconut trees by the thousands.

Then the Florida land developers, Frank Elliott and Robert Mackle, built the Key Biscayne Hotel and villas where Nixon stayed on his first visit.

In the island's interior, the Mackles built 1,000 homes which were quickly snapped up by people such as airline pilots, attorneys and junior executives seeking escape from the daily grind. For the first year, they had no telephones. Neighbors communicated with each other via a community bulletin board.

The new residents built a private beach club and marina, formed a volunteer fire department, and became "islanders" living in an entirely different world from that across the causeway. A colony of artists moved in, adding a bit of Greenwich Village flavor to the key.

Lacking proper drainage facilities, the streets still are flooded by every tropic downpour. In 1964, Hurricane Betsy pushed sea water hip deep into many of the homes. But the residents took it in stride as a part of island life.

As wealthy visitors began to move to the island, and more hotels and apartment houses went up, the complexion of Key Biscayne rapidly changed. More than $100 million worth of hotels and luxury condominiums are now under construction or scheduled and the price of beach front property has reached $3,000 a front foot and is steadily rising.

Bounded on both ends by two of the country's great ocean parks, Cape Florida and Crandon Park, the amount of building that can be done is

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Minnie C. Moorman

KNOB NOSTER — Mrs. Minnie C. Moorman, 89, Hickman Mills, formerly of Knob Noster, died at 9:15 p.m. Wednesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Victor Bennett, with whom she made her home. She had been in failing health for several years.

She was born, Feb. 23, 1879, at Cassville, Mo., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Hutchens. She was married in 1894, to C. W. Scott, who died in 1934. She was married to Ellsworth Moorman of Knob Noster in 1940. He preceded her in death, Dec. 27, 1948.

Mrs. Moorman had lived in the Kansas City area for the past 15 years. She was a member of the Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints.

Surviving are a son, Raymond Leon Scott, Kansas City; six daughters, Mrs. John (Elsie) Nutt, Rockport, Tex.; Mrs. Karl (Olive) Nichols, Mrs. Bill (Rosell) Whetstone, both of Kansas City; Mrs. Victor (Billie) Bennett, Hickman Mills; Mrs. Vinton (Elsene) Bugbee, Calhoun, Mo.; Mrs. Meredith (Argiene) Taylor, Victoria, Tex.; a step-son, Ervin Moorman, Lamoni, Iowa; a step-daughter, Mrs. Florence Guy, Seattle, Wash.; two brothers, William Hutchens, Cassville; Bob Hutchens, Wichita, Kan.; four sisters, Mrs. Jenny Burke, Cassville; Mrs. Mamie Lovell, Mobile, Ala.; Mrs. Missy Vogler, Rock Island, Ill.; Mrs. Lottie Verner, Joplin; 27 grandchildren including Mrs. Eugene (Dorothy) Ward, Knob Noster; 34 great-grandchildren and five great-great-grandchildren.

Preceding her in death were two sons and three daughters.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Friday at the George and Sons Funeral Chapel, Grandview, with Elder Harold Anderson of the Stake and Elder Herman Martin, pastor, of Grandview Church, officiating.

Graveside services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at Friends Cemetery, Purcell, Mo.

The family will receive friends from 7 to 9 p.m. Thursday at the funeral home.

involves his role in opening Springfield Lake, south of Sedalia, to public use.

The battle over opening the lake as a recreation area available to all Sedalians even caused Hudson to spend a short time in the Pettis County jail.

Undaunted, Hudson later took up other issues of interest in the city, continuing the practice through "My Col'm" until the last issue of the Times in 1962.

Surviving Hudson are his widow and one son, Stanton, Jr.; one grandchild, Mrs. John (Patty Lynn) Daniel of Lawrence, Kan.; and a brother, Douglas Hudson, Fort Scott. Two brothers are deceased.

Private funeral services will be held Monday afternoon, Jan. 27, at the Cheney Funeral Home, Fort Scott, with the Rev. Gordon I. Zimmerman, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating.

Burial will be in the National Cemetery, Fort Scott.

ties at the Treasury Department. He said Nixon would nominate Charles E. Walker, executive vice president of the American Bankers Association, to be under secretary and No. 2 man in the department.

Paul A. Volcker, a vice president of the Chase Manhattan Bank, was named undersecretary for monetary affairs.

The Treasury secretary said he welcomed indications of a statistical balance in U.S. international payments. Johnson mentioned this in his farewell State of the Union message.

But Kennedy said "no one should be deluded" about the balance of payments situation. "Underneath the overall result, our trade balance has sagged to the vanishing point under the pressure of inflation, and additional controls on American investment were imposed to achieve the balance," he said. Kennedy said the new administration will not rely indefinitely "on tight controls of statistical window dressing to disguise, but not cure, a basic deficit." He said that would be self-defeating.

He also talked of the price of gold—a touchy topic since he set off a stir in world gold markets a month ago by refusing to commit himself flatly to support the present $35 an ounce rate.

"We will not seek an answer to our problems by a change in the monetary price of gold," Kennedy said.

In Ranks

Seaman Apprentice Raymond W. O'Daniel, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. O'Daniel, Route 1, returned recently to San Diego, Calif., aboard the guided missile light cruiser USS Providence after a two-year deployment in the Western Pacific as flagship for Commander, U.S. Seventh Fleet.

While deployed, the cruiser saw action off the coast of Vietnam, firing more than 1,500 naval gunfire missions in support of U.S. and Allied forces. It was after an intense exchange of fire with enemy shore batteries, during which the ship received minor damage, that Providence acquired the nickname "Fighting Flagship."

Involved in the accident were a 1964 Pontiac being driven west on Sixth, by Mazel Marie Moore, 911 Royal, and a 1960 Comet being driven north on Washington by Leroy H. Thompson, 1701 Marshall.

The left front of the Pontiac and the front of the Comet were damaged.

A 1961 Plymouth driven east on 16th by Donald Pummill, 316 West Broadway, and a 1964 Chevrolet truck-trailer unit being driven north on Limit by Ervin Neal Edwards, Cameron, were involved in an accident at 16th and Limit at 6:22 p.m. Wednesday.

The right rear of the car and the right front of the truck were damaged.

Five Flood Victims Located

OJAI, Calif. (AP) — Along the debris-choked banks of Sespe Creek, the clearing sky disclosed a young boy's body ... then the bodies of two more ... then the lifeless forms of a sheriff's deputy and a forest ranger.

It was feared five more would be found dead today.

These were the lost party of six young hikers, their adult leaders and three men who tried frantically to rescue them from the rain-flooded area.

A survivor of the group, Scott Eckersley, 28, told authorities that he was washed ashore after a bulldozer stalled as they had attempted to cross the swift stream late Monday.

Elsewhere, as skies dried over California, heavy property and crop damage was counted.

Southern California's storm damage was estimated at $3 million.

There were 47 storm-related deaths.

The storm turbulence was blamed for light plane crash in which three Texans died on a mountainside near Banning.

At least 29 traffic deaths in southern California were caused by the storm, authorities said.

In the foothills of Angeles National Forest, northeast of Los Angeles, 15 homes were destroyed by floods and rockslides in the Azusa-Glendora area.

More than 90 other homes were damaged as overnight floodwaters from mountains denuded by a 19,000-acre brush fire last year sent muck and boulders crashing through a housing tract. Several were filled with mud six feet deep. Fifteen homes were evacuated.

A mud flow wrecked the Azusa-Pacific College gymnasium, causing $100,000 damage, and hundreds of cars were partly buried at times.

The damage in Glendora-Azusa was expected to exceed $1 million. In San Luis Obispo County, officials said flood waters caused $2 million damage.

A 70-year-old Guadalupe cypress tree which stood on grounds of Pomona's Post Office was felled by winds.

issued in drills in port and under way, but not on the day of capture."

3. That Bucher waited too long to order destruction of classified equipment and documents.

Bucher testified that he waited until after one boarding attempt by the North Koreans, a sea chase and their first salvo of cannon fire before giving the order.

Until then, Bucher said, he had only ordered preparations for destruction.

He said at least two mattress covers full of documents fell to the Communists.

4. That Bucher failed to realize his incinerator was too small to burn all the documents and he didn't sail into water deep enough for jettisoning them.

"It was a complete oversight on my part," Bucher said.

5. And finally, that he surrendered 81 of the most classified items on his ship when he turned over his men.

American Casualties Increase

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command announced today that 196 Americans were killed in action in Vietnam last week, the highest weekly toll since mid-December.

Headquarters also reported the loss of two more U.S. Air Force fighter-bombers over South Vietnam, raising to five the number of American warplanes shot down over the South in the past three days. Five of the six crewmen aboard the five planes were rescued. The other was killed.

Spokesmen said the five losses were the heaviest three-day toll over South Vietnam in more than seven months. The latest losses raised to 335 the number of U.S. warplanes shot down in combat over South Vietnam during the war.

While American casualties moved up last week, so did those of the South Vietnamese military and the enemy.

Government headquarters announced that 292 South Vietnamese troops were killed in action during the seven-day period ending at midnight Saturday, their highest death toll in more than three months.

Enemy casualties also hit their highest mark since last November. Allied spokesmen reported 2,420 enemy troops were killed in fighting last week.

The U.S. Command said that while there have been no major actions since the first of the year, there have been hundreds of small fights that caused mounting casualties.

Meanwhile, thousands of allied troops hunting down enemy supply bases uncovered at least half a dozen more big stockpiles of munitions and food. They seized more than 10 tons of munitions and 15½ tons of food.

The sweeping troops seized 163,000 rounds of machine-gun and small arms ammunition, 1,500 mortar, rocket and recoilless rifle shells, and 15½ tons of food.

The latest finds raised to about 700 tons the total of enemy supplies allied troops have seized in the past 26 days. This includes more than one million rounds of machine gun and small arms ammunition.

Most of the munitions have been seized between Saigon and the Cambodian border, and some senior U.S. officers think this has been one of the chief reasons why the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese haven't launched a new offensive against the South Vietnamese capital this winter. Traveling light on foot through the jungle, the Viet Cong must prepare their approach with stockpiles spaced along the way before they can launch any sizable offensive.

The Viet Cong kept up their nightly shelling of bases and provincial capitals while avoiding large-scale ground fighting. For the second night in a row, enemy gunners shelled Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city. Seven 100-pound rockets slammed into the big American air base and the harbor, but no casualties or damage was reported.

Troops from the U.S. 11th Light Infantry Brigade maintained a cordon around a village 65 miles south of Da Nang where an enemy force has been holding out for four days.

Intense fire from bunkers and zig-zag trenches kept the Americans out of the heart of the village, but a captured enemy soldier said the other troops inside the village were out of food and hungry. The villagers fled some time ago, and U.S. fighter-bombers pounded the village constantly.

"I think we'll just play a waiting game and keep the cordon tight," said one U.S. spokesman.

He said at least 19 of the enemy and three Americans have been killed and 25 Americans have been wounded.

Mazzuca's Place Is Filled by Rep. Slay

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Democrats in the Missouri House chose Rep. Francis B. Slay, D-St. Louis, Wednesday to replace the late Rep. Frank Mazzuca, D-Kansas City, as party caucus chairman.

Mazzuca died early Jan. 14 after attending inaugural festivities in Jefferson City.

Slay, 43, is a restaurant operator serving his second term in the House.

House Speaker James E. Godfrey said he will announce later his selection to replace Mazzuca as chairman of the Municipal Corporations Committee.

Expense of Bussing Based on 3½ Miles

The Sedalia school system would have to pay an additional four or five thousand dollars a year to provide transportation for students living 3½ miles or more from the proposed junior high school.

This would not be the additional cost of transporting all students living a mile or more from their schools, as was indicated in Wednesday's Democrat and Capital. The cost of this plan, which is under study, is currently being figured by school officials.

Schools Are Ordered Closed After Strike

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Robert Coyle, school superintendent, ordered the closing of all schools in the city today because of a teachers' strike, the second in two years over salaries.

He cited two reasons for closing the city's 30 elementary and four high schools:

—Concern for the safety of the pupils.

—State law requires all schools to run 180 days of the year, and it would create an imbalance to keep only some of them open.

Jersey City, with a population of about 275,000, is just across the Hudson River from New York City. About 35,000 students attend the city's public schools, which have a teaching staff of 1,650. About 75 per cent of the teachers were reported on strike.

Negotiations between the Jersey City Education Association, representing the teachers, and the board were set for later today.

The teachers are seeking a yearly salary range of $8,000 to $12,800, compared to the present $6,200 to $9,750. The board has offered a $6,500 starting salary, with a top scale of $10,200.

Testifies At His Trial In Abortion Case

PLATTE CITY, Mo. (AP) — Edwin L. Baker took the stand in his own defense Wednesday in his trial on charges of manslaughter by abortion.

Baker denied he had ever met Miss Janet T. Lilley, 24, of St. Joseph, Mo., whose body was discovered in a creek bed last July near Stewartsville, Mo.

He was the eighth witness called by defense attorney Joseph Flynn after two and one-half days of evidence presented by the state.

Baker also denied testimony by witnesses for the state that he had performed abortions on other women.

His wife, Josephine, agreed with her husband's testimony. Mrs. Baker is also charged in the death but is to be tried separately.

Irish Religious Feud is Fired By the Militant Rev. Paisley Minimum Wage Increase For Certain Employees

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—The Rev. Ian Paisley, leader of the militant Protestants in Northern Ireland's religious feuding, is a hard-hitting orator with a powerful list of targets.

They start with the Pope and the Archbishop of Canterbury, continue through the Northern Ireland government and its prime minister, and go on to the British Broadcasting Corp., newspapers, drink, the devil and all his works.

Critics, both Roman Catholic and moderate Protestants, have called him a primitive bigot.

Paisley replies: "If it is primitive to be Protestant then we will be primitive."

"If it is bigoted to believe in freedom, then I am a bigot."

"If bigotry derives from By God, which is what the Inquisition martyrs said as they went to the stake, then I'm bigoted. If it means violence and intolerance, then I'm not."

Ian Richard Kyle Paisley, born 42 years ago the son of a County Down preacher, is moderator of the Free Presbyterian church, one of a dozen or so sects which flourish in the red brick streets of Protestant Belfast.

Ten years ago he and his church were seldom heard of. Today he is a major influence in Irish politics and in the centuries-old argument between Ireland's Protestants and Catholics.

His main support is drawn from Belfast's Sandyrow and Shankill Road, working class areas where scarcely a wall lacks a symbol denouncing the Pope.

In country districts, where Roman Catholics are often in the majority, he has the backing of Protestant farmers who believe their homes would be threatened by any accommodation with the Catholic-dominated Irish Republic to the south.

An independent poll last year indicated Paisley had the support of 200,000 of Northern Ireland's 1½ million population.

Actual membership of his church is probably nearer 20,000 and certainly far short of the province's 400,000 orthodox Presbyterians, from whom his organization seceded 30 years ago.

His home parish, Ravenhill, is building a new church for a congregation of 2,000. Paisley regularly packs the same number into Sunday meetings at Belfast's Ulster Hall.

In their confrontations with the mainly Catholic civil rights demonstrators, who claim discrimination by the government, Paisley supporters wave the Union Jack and sing "God Save the Queen."

To Paisley's people, the demonstrators are "Papishes", disloyal to the North's union with Britain and a threat to jobs and homes should they ever unite Ireland under Catholic rule.

The 17th century's great battles still are fresh in militant minds—the Battle of the Boyne, when Protestant William of Orange defeated the Catholic forces of James II, and the siege of Londonderry, whose stone wall withstood a Catholic army.

"We are the Billy Boys," sing the Paisleyites. "Bully boys" is the retort from the opposition. Paisleyite women chant at Catholic women: "Ee-aya-addio, you can't take the pill."

Paisley has the build of a heavyweight boxer and the voice of a high-pitched foghorn. "Not an inch" and "No surrender" are his favorite slogans—meaning no compromise between Protestant and Catholic or between the British-ruled North and the Independent Republic of the south.

His sermons and street-corner speeches are aggressive stuff.

"The Roman Catholic Church," he once said, "is the greatest dictatorship in the world."

"The Mass is a dangerous and blasphemous deceit. The priest is arrogant and interferes with the rights of the individual and the family. The Confessional is the spy hole of the priests into the hearts and homes of the people."

He tempers this by saying: "We love individual Roman Catholics. We detest the papacy."

In belief he is a fundamentalist. "I believe that Adam and Eve existed as two people," he once said.

"We stand for the Bible."

Paisley's wife Eileen, a petite brunette, is Sandyrow's representative on Belfast City Council. They have three daughters and year-old twin sons.

On occasion Paisley has received unexpected praise from Catholic voices. The Irish Press, owned by the family of the republic's President Eamon De Valera, has written: "He is not a bad man. His acts of kindness are legion."

The Pioneer, weekly organ of Ireland's Jesuit-controlled Total Abstinence Committee, wrote: "On frequent occasions he preaches very sincere and moving sermons. It must be said that some of them have brought people to a better way of life. He takes a firm stand against alcoholism and has helped many sufferers."

Paisley, in a rare interview, said much the same. "I'm a puritan," he said. "I've saved many a boozer."

"The publicans don't like me. I am against the liquor trade."

"I don't smoke and I don't like censorship. Let a fellow have his say and then attack him."

The political, some say paramilitary, branch of Paisley's movement is represented by an organization known as the Loyal Citizens of Ulster. Their leader, Major Ronald Bunting, is a former British army officer.

The Loyal Citizens sprang up after a ban two years ago on the Ulster Defense Volunteers, extremist counterpart to the outlawed Irish Republican Army. These were the men who ambushed this month's march of leftist students from Belfast to Londonderry, charging down a hillside with rocks and clubs.

To Paisley and Bunting, Prime Minister Terence O'Neill is a dangerous compromiser whose concessions to the civil rights demonstrators show weakness and whose attempts to improve relations with the republic are downright treachery.

Paisley calls O'Neill "an ally of Popery—a Lundy." William Lundy was the traitor who offered to sell the keys of Derry to the Catholic siege force nearly three centuries ago. Protestants still burn his effigy on the city walls each year.

In O'Neill's view, Paisley is "a man determined to make sure the world will think of Ulster in terms of a protest march and the insulting placard."

Speaking in Parliament two years before the current spate of troubles, O'Neill talked of a pattern familiar from the 1930s— "contempt for authority, crude intolerance and monster processions and rallies."

"Each and every one of these things had its parallel in the rise of the Nazis to power," O'Neill said.

Top Indian Communist Presides Over Chaos

TRIVANDRUM, Kerala (AP) — This poor man's tropical paradise is where India's Communist revolution is supposed to begin.

The ingredients are impressive: Kerala, India's most overcrowded and literate state, has a vast, restless pool of educated unemployed and great numbers of impoverished agricultural laborers—seemingly a complete Maoist prescription for revolution.

The would-be maestro of all this combustible material is a short, self-effacing Brahmin gentleman, with kindly manners and a formidable stammer. The state's capitalists and landlords consider him an embodied threat to their industries and plantations—and even their lives.

But these "class enemies" are the first to volunteer that E.M.S. Namboodiripad, Kerala's Communist chief minister, is the state's most incorruptible politician.

These days, however, Namboodiripad, 58, is preoccupied with keeping his job at the head of a heterogeneous seven-party coalition government.

The central government in New Delhi kicked Namboodiripad out of the same job in 1959, claiming that law and order had collapsed in Kerala. New Delhi prevented him from assuming it again in 1965—by jailing Namboodiripad and several dozen of his colleagues as "Chinese agents."

Today, there is steady pressure from extremist elements in and around Namboodiripad's Marxist Communist party to expose the "sham" of parliamentary democracy and take to more inspiring forms of revolutionary struggle.

Namboodiripad knows that if he is thrown out again his party might split over the issue of contesting any more elections.

"It will be easier to convince the people that these elections are fake," a young Namboodiripad aide mused, considering what might happen if New Delhi intervened a third time.

Kerala's finances are in a shambles. When Namboodiripad's government took over in April 1967 it had a comfortable surplus of $24 million in rupees.

Thanks in part to massive increases in administrative staff, the government is now in the hole, "bordering on penury," according to one neutral observer.

"And we are not going to add another tax burden on the people," P. K. Kunju, the state's finance minister said.

The only other source is the central government, which, if it wanted to, could claim "financial breakdown" of the state and take it over.

In Ranks

Marine Gunnery Sergeant Ted W. Rasa, son of Mrs. Mabel Rasa, 818 East Fifth, was promoted to his present rank while serving with the First Marine Aircraft Wing in Vietnam.

His promotion was based on time in service and rank, military appearance, and his knowledge of selected military subjects.

Air arm of the Third Marine Amphibious Force, the wing operates several hundred aircraft including fighter, attack, reconnaissance, helicopter, and transport aircraft.

Finally Married

British author Gordon Langley Hall, who underwent a surgical sex change and became Miss Dawn Pepita Langley Hall, was married in private ceremonies in Charleston, S.C., to her Negro butler, John Paul Simmons. The marriage was performed by a Negro Baptist minister. (UPI)

Denied Recognition

THE HAGUE, the Netherlands (AP) — The Dutch Second Chamber of Parliament rejected Wednesday a Labor party motion urging the government to grant official recognition to the Netherlands Association of Homosexuals.

Mrs. Hannie Singer, a Laborite, introduced the motion asking the government to base recognition only on judicial grounds, to facilitate the association's contacts with other social institutions.

The United States was host to 1,729,000 visitors from abroad during 1967. The figure is exclusive of Mexicans and Canadians.

Johnson Happy With New Role

STONEWALL, Tex. (AP) — Under the spreading oaks, under the big benign sky of Texas, a rancher named Lyndon Baines Johnson allowed as how the cattle looked good.

"We've had some cold spells that burnt the oats some," he said. "I went horseback riding with my favorite girl this morning and the cattle—well, I don't want to say they never had it so good—but they generally look good."

Three days out of the White House, Johnson also allowed as how he'll "certainly" miss power but is not having trouble depressing. He said he "enjoyed very much" being president and that he is satisfied that his renunciation of another term helped bring North Vietnam to the peace table and helped unify a divided America.

About missing power, he said, "I'm sure any person who has been active as I have for 38 years in public affairs will notice when the roll is called and his name is not there. But I want to miss it. It hurts good."

Johnson and his wife aired their thoughts at a news conference on the broad lawn before their big white frame ranch house, near the plastic bubble covering the swimming pool on the banks of the Pedernales River.

The words of the former president were those of a relaxed man but his manner, in the view of many veteran Johnson watchers, was not. To them, he appeared taut and his smile was somewhat perfunctory and, as always, he still sparred carefully with reporters.

Perhaps his most revealing answer was to the question: "Are you a happy man today, Mr. President?"

"Yes," said Lyndon Johnson, "I think so."

He spoke of the many things he no longer has to do, the "decisions to be made by 4 o'clock," the 15 or 20 appointments to keep every day, the military intelligence reports to be read, the cables from the "sensitive capitals" of the world to be studied.

Last March 31 President Johnson renounced another term in the White House in the hope that this act would help bring Hanoi to the peace table and help end the divisiveness in the country.

He said Wednesday he is satisfied that his withdrawal was effective on both levels. "North Vietnam," he said "might have been hesitant to come to Paris if they thought I was acting for political reasons." Domestically, he said, his renunciation resulted in "less protest from the dissenting groups in the cities than if I were still a candidate."

"They lost some of their incentive when they found out I was not expecting them to vote for me. When they understood this, there was less hatred and less bitterness."

Inmate-Students Happy With Grades

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) The four students grinned with pleasure when they got their marks in Clark University night courses—all B's and C's.

All are inmates of the Worcester County jail.

The jail has 235 inmates, and about half attended high school classes three times weekly at the jail or take correspondence courses. Thomas R. Bird the jail education officer said 87 have won high school diplomas since last June.

Sense of Humor

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — The desk sergeant at the Troy city police headquarters has this sign above his window: "This city is out of order."

Mrs. Johnson interposed, "they lost their symbol, their target."

Would he ever run again for elective office? Johnson seemed reluctant to close out his options. He said he had no plans along these lines but "no one can say for certain what the future will encompass. The best laid plans of mice and men often come to naught."

Returning to the house, Lady

Bird Johnson was asked if she was enjoying a sense of liberation.

The former First Lady threw out her arms and a big warm smile crossed her face and she said, with an intensity that seemed to come up from her heels:

"I'm feeling fine, just fine!"

Pause. Then: "But I am worried about getting all those clothes into these closets."

Lotz-Mulvaney Vows Read by Candlelight

CALIFORNIA — Miss Patricia Lotz, daughter of CMSgt. and Mrs. Edward Lotz, Tucson, Ariz., formerly of California, became the bride of Paul L. Mulvaney, son of Mrs. Fern Geringer, Tucson, in a candlelight ceremony Dec. 28 at Morningside Baptist Church.

The Rev. Chester B. Pillow performed the double ring evening ceremony before an altar flanked by seven branch candelabra and greenery. A small altar table covered with red velvet held an open Bible, topped by a red rose. Silver candleholders, white candles, greenery and Poinsettias completed the setting.

Mrs. Norma Altis, Liberty, aunt of the bride, sang "So Love I Thee" and "Take Our Lives," accompanied by Mrs. Mary Battenfield, Tucson. "A Mighty Fortress is Our God" was played as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

The bride selected a sleeveless gown of ivory bridal satin caged by an antique lace jacket with long tapering sleeves and satin covered buttons. Lace applique outlined the chapel length train. The elbow length tulle veil was secured by a flower topped satin bow. The bride carried a crescent bouquet of white and pink roses and her only jewelry was a cameo necklace, belonging to the groom's mother.

The maid of honor, Miss Karen Lotz, sister of the bride, and bridesmaid, Miss Sue Mulvaney, sister of the groom, wore identical long gowns of frosted pink peau featuring short puff sleeves. The empire waist was accented by a large flat bow in the back and wide streamers falling to the hemline. Their headpieces were bows of matching peau topped by tiny pink rose buds. Each carried a crescent of red roses and greenery.

The groom chose his brother, Frank Mulvaney, as best man. Miss Daphne Tate, Tucson, was the flower girl. She wore a gown styled like that of the other attendants. Master David Bunton, Tucson, was ring bearer.

Miss Terry Bunton, Tucson, and Don Altis, cousin of the bride, were candlelighters. Ushering duties were performed by Terry Charleston, Tucson, and Darrel Lotz, brother of the bride, Las Cruces, N.M.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lotz selected a peach silk organza over taffeta dress with black accessories and a corsage of roses. Mrs. Fern Geringer, mother of the groom, was attired in a dress of pink wool with bone accessories, accented by a double corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Judy Lotz, sister-in-law of the bride, registered the guests.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the church fellowship hall.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a cranberry two-piece ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

The new Mrs. Mulvaney presently attends Durham College. The groom is stationed at Davis-Monthan AFB, Ariz.

Killed in Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army Spec. 4 Donald D. Slayton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Slayton of Sikeston, Mo., was changed from a list of missing to killed in action in Wednesday's Defense Department casualty report from Vietnam.

Couple Repeat Vows

Bouquets of white gladiolas, red roses, and pink carnations adorned the altar of the Green Ridge Presbyterian Church Jan. 5 for the double ring ceremony joining in marriage Miss Jerusha Lynn White and Larry Dale Hancock.

The Rev. James Williams officiated at the late afternoon ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn White, Green Ridge, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.J. Hancock, Sedalia.

Candles were lighted by Terri and Sherry Neitzert.

For her wedding, Miss White had selected an afternoon length gown of ivory bridal satin. The empire waist was accented with a flat pink velvet bow and ruffles of lace trimmed the stand up collar, long cuffed sleeves and bodice. She carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and pink carnations.

Miss Janice Meyer attended as maid of honor. Her red velvet dress was styled with a lifted waistline and slightly gathered skirt. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Thomas Mahin, Green Ridge, served as best man. Ushers were C. Booth and J. Vannoy.

Following the ceremony, the couple received guests in the church reception hall. Miss Wilma Griffin, Smithton, Miss Terri White, Green Ridge, and Miss Pat Binder, Columbia, served at the bride's table. Miss Charlotte Bridges, Otterville, registered guests. Miss Doris Booth and Miss Wanda Vannoy presided at the gift table.

Following a wedding trip through Arkansas and Tennessee the couple will live in Green Ridge.

4-H Notes

The South Abel 4-H'ers of Sedalia and Smithton met Jan. 16 with Mrs. Homer Garrison to plan for a Valentine party, and hear project reports.

Of special interest at the meeting was the veterinary science report.

The health committee presented a film, "Germs" at the January meeting of the Quisenberry Hustlers. Approximately 20 persons attended.

Members of the Hughesville Happy Helpers 4-H club will sell candy as a ways and means project. The money-making idea was decided upon at the Jan. 13 meeting.

Franklin Delano Roosevelt was identified on his official inaugural medals as the 31st President of the United States. Some people hold, and some do not, that since Grover Cleveland was both the 22nd and 24th President, Roosevelt actually was the 32nd.

Repeat Wedding Promises

COLE CAMP — In an evening candlelight ceremony Dec. 28 at Trinity Lutheran Church, Miss Virginia Ann Gertz became the bride of Mr. Elroy O. Doerflinger.

The Rev. L. R. Krout officiated at the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Gertz, 626 East 18th, Sedalia, formerly of Cole Camp, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Doerflinger, Route 2, Cole Camp.

White carnations, red poinsettias and seven-branch candelabras flanked the altar. Candelabras trimmed with hemlock, holly and white satin bows lighted the aisle and small candles with similar trim stood in the windows.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, selected an A-line, floor length satin gown with detachable lace-edged train. A white lace jacket with scalloped neckline, elbow length bell sleeves and satin covered buttons completed the gown. She wore a heart-shaped pendant necklace, a gift from the groom. A forward petal cluster of lace, edged with seed pearls, held her shoulder length veil of silk illusion. A white Cattelya orchid centered her cascade of white Butterfly roses and she carried the bouquet on a white prayer book.

Miss Dorothy Gertz attended her sister as maid of honor. She was attired in a floor length wine velvet empire gown with scooped neckline and elbow length bell sleeves. The bridesmaids, Miss Melody Gertz, sister of the bride, Miss Teresa Doerflinger, sister of the groom, and Miss Judy Brown wore floor length gowns with wine velvet bodice and white satin skirt. Each attendant carried a crescent of white Fuji mums, hemlock and holly tied with a green velvet ribbon and sprinkled with silverdust. Their headpieces were wine velvet bows.

The bride and her mother designed and made the bridal and attendants' gowns and headpieces.

Oliver Doerflinger, cousin of the groom, served as best man and Carl Kullman, Joe Breshears and David Tucker served as groomsmen. Ushers were Mike Askren, Bill Marshall, Clayton Chamberlain and Larry Paris. Junior ushers were Miss Helen Doerflinger and Master Mark Askren.

Flower girls, Miss Kathy Marshall and Miss Edna Doerflinger, preceded the bride down the aisle attired in white satin floor length empire dresses with red velvet ribbon at the lifted waist. They dropped petals from baskets trimmed in hemlock, holly and red satin bows. Master Mike Chamberlain served as ringbearer and Master Danny Gertz served as honorary ringbearer. Louis Doerflinger and Master Dean Doerflinger were candlelighters.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Gertz chose a winter white two-piece dress with black accessories. Mrs.

Doerflinger, mother of the groom, selected a winter white linen dress and black accessories.

A reception in the church basement followed the ceremony. The three-tiered cake was topped with a marriage cross. Mrs. E. J. Kerksieck, Cole Camp, baked and served the cake. Mrs. Clayton Chamberlain, Miss Ethelene Jagels and Miss Sharon Doerflinger also served. Mrs. Bill Marshall and Miss Vicki Rash attended the gifts and Miss Linda Hesse registered guests.

For a wedding trip to the Lake of the Ozarks the bride chose a turquoise jersey dress with black accessories. Her corsage was a white orchid lifted from the bridal bouquet.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Benton County R-I, Cole Camp, and is presently attending Springfield Draughton Business University. The groom also a 1967 graduate of Benton County R-I, is stationed at Fort Leonard Wood.

Mirrors Reflect Taste

If you choose the right mirror, it will serve a decorative purpose and also reflect enough of the room to make it look larger.

Small mirrors can be used singly or in groups of two, three, or more for unusual effects. For example, a long wall can be dramatized by hanging three long, slim mirrors close together. This grouping is particularly attractive over a sofa or a chest, or even over a bed headboard. Unframed mirrors are appropriate for such an arrangement.

Many well-designed mirrors are inexpensive enough to make a large decorating splash for much less than other wall treatments. Mirrors also spell easy upkeep as they come sparkling clean when washed with a sudsy cloth. Here is a trick to make them positively brilliant: Wipe the glass with thick soap or detergent suds on a cloth wrung almost dry from warm water. Then add a little kerosene or ammonia to the rinse. Dry and polish the mirror with a lint-free cloth, or crumpled newspaper. This produces a lasting shine which will reflect the charm of any room to good advantage.

Supermarket of Tomorrow

The supermarket of tomorrow will be a one-stop shopping center under one roof, complete with selling areas, customer lounges, medical facilities and a bank.

We're told that by 1980 there will probably be just 20 large supermarket chains that will handle ¾ of all the food business. Now that's really supermarking. And, there'll be two kinds of stores competing for our business — luxurious super supermarkets and discount stores.

After we arrive at the store of our choice — and it could easily be 100 miles or more down the road — we'll park our car or helicopter above or below the selling area. In addition to being convenient, this will be necessary to conserve land use. Sidewalk conveyors will take up from our vehicle into the store.

The building may be spiral shaped or, perhaps, it will have revolving walls. The interiors will glow with dramatic lighting and modern art. Delectable odors and mellow sounds will fill the atmosphere. Hostesses — similar to today's airline stewardesses — will be on duty to answer questions. And, prophets of the future tell us that the supermarket shelves will be filled with empty containers — meremodels of the real products.

Shoppers will check label information and prices, and punch their selections onto grocery list cards received at the door. There will be more fully prepared and partly prepared foods, and a cook-while-you-wait service in every store.

Menus of the Day will be posted as meal suggestions, and if the shopper likes the ideas, she can automatically select all the ingredients in quantity to suit her family.

Fast checkout service will be handled by a few high fashion checkers who will be charm school graduates. They will feed our shopping list card into a machine that will list each item, price, tax and total. Actually, this kind of automatic checkout is already possible by means of electronic computers, television cameras and special price marking inks.

Changes will occur in the food themselves, as well. They will stay fresh longer, due to scientifically controlled sanitation, refrigeration and better grading regulations. Raw foods will be redesigned. Fruits and vegetables will be uniform in shape. Straight bananas and square pineapples will make easier packing and fitting into cans. Sterile milk which stays fresh at room temperature for months, frozen concentrated milk, and long-life cheeses will extend the useful shelf life of now perishable dairy foods. Meat cuts will be oven-ready, more tender yet leaner, and will yield more edible meat per pound.

The future of our food shopping looks easier and more interesting, with less work for us than ever before. It will, indeed, be super supermarketing.

Food Standards

Government standards for safety and quality play a vital role in many of the foods you buy for your family.

Today's homemaker chooses to whip up an excellent chocolate cake using a mix rather than carefully selecting each ingredient. She prefers to buy her vegetables canned or frozen rather than hand-picking and home cooking them. Today, when choosing ready-made rather than do-it-yourself products, you can be assured that government food standards protect you.

Food standards act as a legal reference to insure the real food value and quality of many basic foods. These standards define the foods and area a legally binding guide to food manufacturers for determining quality and quantity of ingredients to include in their food products.

Many basic food items such as mayonnaise, ice cream, and enriched white bread now have legal definitions and standards set for them. These standards have been adopted as official regulations under the Federal Food, Drug and Cosmetic Act — our national pure food law — and are enforced by the Food and Drug Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The basic types of standards for food products are: Definitions and Standards of Identity, Standards of Quality, and Standards of Fill of Container.

A standard of identity is somewhat like a recipe. Standards specify the normal composition of the food, the required kinds and amounts of ingredients that must go into a given product, and certain permissible ingredients that may be added at the option of the manufacturer.

Once a standard goes into effect, only the products that meet the specifications may bear the name of the food, such as ice cream, need be stated on the label.

Evening Ceremony Unites a Couple

NELSON — Miss Pansy June Sleeper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sleeper, became the bride of Ronald Lee Hayslip, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Hayslip, Marshall, in an 8 p.m. ceremony Dec. 20 at the Heath Creek Baptist Church.

The Rev. Sanford Beckett performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with candelabra, holly and large poinsettias.

Mrs. Carlisle Walker, pianist, accompanied James Renison as he sang, "Because" and "The Wedding Prayer."

Candlelighters were Denise Sleeper, sister of the bride and Lee Douglas Wade, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Wade, Sweet Springs.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a wedding gown of handclipped Belgian lace over peau de soie in a flowing cage design. Styled with Sabrina neckline and long tapering sleeves, the gown was highlighted with imported iridescent sequins, embroidered in a crescent shape.

A shoulder train of lace, topped with a silk bow and framed with rows of scalloped lace, extended to chapel length. Petals of lace and pearls formed a miniature forward cluster headress which held her bouffant veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of red poinsettias with Stephanotis streamers.

Miss Gail Sleeper, sister of the bride, was maid of honor wearing a dress of white Chantilly lace over red delustered satin. She carried a cascade of red carnations with holly and white velvet streamers.

Bridesmaids were Miss Joyce Norman and Miss Sandy Lemler. Their dresses and flower cascades were identical to the costume of the maid of honor.

Rodney Pace, Marshall, served as best man. Groomsmen were Virgil Salmeyer and James Salmeyer, Marshall. Ushering duties were performed by the bride's brother, Dana Sleeper and by Vincent Norman, Marshall.

For the wedding, the bride's mother was attired in a brown knitted dress with matching accessories. The groom's mother wore a dress of green and white tweed with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Grandfather of the bride, Lester Biggs, and Mrs. Biggs were among the guests at the wedding.

A reception followed the ceremony. Mrs. Sadie Scott, LaMonte, aunt of the bride; Mrs. Clyde Pettit, Blackwater and Mrs. Vincent Norman, Marshall, presided at the bride's table. They were assisted by Mrs. Vernon Klasing, Sweet Springs, and Mrs. R. W. Mitchell, Houstonia.

Guests were registered by Mrs. Carroll Dillon, Houstonia. Miss LaVera Hayslip, Miss LaSandra Norman, Marshall and Mrs. Bob Brooks, Sweet Springs, were at the gift table.

Miss Sleeper was guest of honor at a shower prior to the wedding in the home of Mrs. Ronald Wade, Sweet Springs. Assisting Mrs. Wade were Miss Joyce Norman and Miss Gail Sleeper.

At Inauguration

KNOB NOSTER — Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Davis participated in the inauguration activities for Gov. Warren Hearnes recently in Jefferson City.

Mr. Davis is one of the 1,031 honorary colonels named by the governor.

Acapulco, Mexico, the world-famous resort, was founded in the 16th century but remained a sleepy fishing village until a highway reached it in 1927. Most residents now live on tourism.

HONG KONG FLU

Hong Kong Flu, an entirely new strain of A-2 flu virus, is now hitting many parts of the country and is expected to be epidemic by mid-winter.

Although vaccines previously available won't help much against the new flu, pharmaceutical companies are working around the clock to produce enough new vaccine, effective against the Hong Kong flu.

If you are over 60 or have trouble with your heart or breathing, public health authorities urge that you have your doctor inoculate you with the new vaccine.

See your doctor if you need protection and get your shots just as soon as the vaccine is available.

Demonstrate Positively...

Now that the inaugural festivities are concluded we can reflect upon the portrayal in Washington Monday night as the harmonious composite of a nationwide attitude of hopefulness for peaceful progress — the ushering in of an era of good feeling.

Such an era occurred during the administration of President James Monroe 150 years ago. Is there any reason why we should not have a repetition of it?

The Washington scene now reveals an atmosphere of self-confidence and assurance that collectively the nation is above being dominated by the so-called exponents of peace, those anti-war demonstrators who profess non-violence but who burnt souvenir American flags along the inaugural parade route, who shouted obscenities and threw rocks and beer cans at the President's limousine.

Such demonstrations accomplish nothing constructive. They only deserve the blighting contempt of God-fearing Americans whose respect for liberty is fatigued by the antics of the lunatic-fringe element whose inconsistencies are so evident.

People out here in the prairie lands of Central Missouri as elsewhere are irritated and weary of the periodic and pointless outbursts in so many cities by campus and other dissenters whose chief aim is disruption of university and college operations, or community harmony.

However, the disturbed people who indulge in these violent eruptions may be succeeding in a way they had not foreseen, according to a comment coming to our attention. In the last election, many bond issues and tax proposals having to do with education went down to defeat. In California, $250 million in bonds for construction of the state's troubled universities and colleges were turned down by the voters. Campus riots in Berkeley were given as one reason for the rejection. Tax increases to meet school needs were presumably defeated in many areas because of the actions of uncontrolled minority groups.

An inference is that voters resent the use of tax-supported educational institutions as a breeding ground for riots and violence; that slowing down of the flow of tax funds for education is part of the price that everyone must pay when permissiveness becomes anarchy.

Missourians have been fortunate in the scarcity of negative vehemence. Hopefully, our state's breed of citizenship has more intelligence than to impede educational progress. Voting against school progress as an expedient to express disapproval of violent student dissenters invites double jeopardy.

Certainly Sedalians find no need to resort to such countermeasures against disruption of a school system.

Instead our local community presently is confronted with a challenge to demonstrate positively for something practical — an endorsement at the polls Tuesday, February 4, of a $1,650,000 bond issue to build a Junior High School in Sedalia.

Russians Appear in Peace Mood

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Richard Nixon, who took the oath of office with his hand on Isaiah 24, proclaiming that nations should "beat their swords into plowshares," now faces tremendous opportunities and tremendous problems in achieving that goal.

As reported in an earlier column, Lyndon Johnson had taken important steps toward an early peace in Vietnam and a long range peace with Soviet Russia. He had even discussed with the Russians a peaceful formula for American resumption of relations with Communist Cuba, and received peace overtures from Moscow regarding the dynamite-laden Near East.

The outcome of all of these will depend largely on whether the new President is able to retain the long range cooperation of the other super nuclear power — Soviet Russia. Even peace in Vietnam will depend on how much Soviet Russia pressures Ho Chi Minh. During the Johnson administration, Russia is reported to have curtailed the shipment of missiles, and was sending agriculture experts to North Vietnam instead.

The big question, therefore is: How far can the new Quaker President go in carrying out the chief tenet of his faith — Peace; and how much will the Russians help him?

We have already reported that leaders of the Religious Society of Friends (Quakers), of which Nixon was born a member, were rebuffed when they sought to confer with him regarding the religious duties of his office. We already know that such Russian leaders as Khrushchev and Foreign Minister Gromyko were not happy with Nixon's views or conduct either when he was Vice President or before.

—Communist-Hunter—

In 1954 he had advocated landing American troops in what was then French Indo-China to rescue the French. And he had built up his political career on a campaign of Communist-hunting. Even before Sen. Joe McCarthy had climbed to fame on his false accusation of 205 card-carrying Communists in the State Department, Nixon had started seeing Communists under beds in California, especially the beds of those who were running against him.

His greatest victory, which probably led to his choice as Eisenhower's Vice President, was the now dubious charge that Alger Hiss was a Communist. None of this endeared him to the world's most potent Communist nation, Soviet Russia, with which he will now have to do business in order to keep the peace.

So the big question is: Will the Communist world do business with Nixon?

The answer, in my opinion, is that it will.

I base this partly on a trip to the Communist countries of Eastern Europe last September, partly on a study of the Russian press.

While visiting the neighbors of Czechoslovakia last fall, the main questions asked of me by Communist leaders were: first, who will win the American election; and, second, is there a new Nixon, or does the old Nixon still lurk beneath the surface?

Their general conclusion, upon being told that Richard Nixon probably would be the next President, was that they could work with him. Nicolae Ceausescu, top leader of Romania, had had a two-hour talk with Nixon last year, had concluded that Nixon was a practical man, that he wanted peace.

Foreign Minister Josef Winiewicz of Poland had been Polish Ambassador in Washington when Nixon, a young member of the House un-American Activities Committee had come to see him while investigating Communism. The Polish Foreign Minister, himself a leading Communist, smiled at this. But he too thought Nixon had grown up, had become practical, and that the Communist world could work with him for peace.

—Silent Soviet Press—

Meanwhile the Communist press is significantly silent about President Nixon. In contrast to the West European press which has been more critical than American Democratic newspapers, the Russian press has been noncommittal. Since this is a government-controlled press, it means that the Soviet Union is waiting to give Nixon a chance.

If he pushes ratification of the treaty to stop the spread of nuclear weapons it will be a sign that the new President wants to cooperate. If he also accepts the Russian overtures for discussions of peace in the Near East, it will be a further sign.

Both are important, for there are mixed views in the Kremlin over Nixon. Spartak Beglov, leading Soviet foreign affairs commentator, has written a column stating that he differed with Russians who were critical of Henry Kissinger's appointment as Nixon's No. 1 foreign affairs adviser. This is an unusual public admission of private disagreement in Moscow.

That disagreement is reported to involve the same disagreement which existed during Khrushchev's era, and which also exists between the State Department and the Pentagon. It's the disagreement between the big missile men and the peace men, between the preventive-war advocates and those who argue that nuclear war would bring the end of civilization.

The Red Army has always carried weight in the Kremlin, just as the Joint Chiefs of Staff carried weight with Kennedy and Johnson. Nixon's past record indicates they will also carry weight with him.

The new Secretary of State, William P. Rogers, though inexperienced in diplomacy, is a level-headed, practical man. His word is likely to prevail with the new President. If so, Mr. Nixon will take advantage of the Russian invitation to sit down at the negotiating table and fulfill his pledge of "seeking the highest honor history can bestow" — the title of Peacemaker.

LBJ's 'Good-Guy' Budget Full of Traps for Nixon

By RAY CROMLEY
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)

A study of President Johnson's final budget brings a number of peculiarities to light.

In several ways the document seems calculated to saddle Mr. Nixon with Johnson policies. Other items seem set up to trap the new president politically.

The main thrust, however, seems aimed at making Johnson show up well historically in a budget he will not be required to live with. Take the matter of spending.

The Congress approved the Johnson surtax on the understanding that Johnson would cut expenditures. Johnson was expected to shelve some $6 billion in new contracts. But Congress left a loophole. It called for expenditure cuts but forgot to specify an equivalent reduction in the awarding of contracts.

Johnson has taken advantage of this loophole. His administration didn't obligate the shelved funds so long as the expenditure would fall during the Johnson term of office. But in the weeks before the Nixon take-over, the Johnson men were heavily placing new obligations—that is, letting new contracts that will come up for payment in Nixon's term.

This tactic kept spending low in Johnson's last year, but forces these heavier expenditures on the Nixon administration. By obligating the funds, Johnson forces an extension of his policies on Nixon. It is very difficult and expensive—in money and political effect—to withdraw contracts once let.

Johnson apparently has set two further traps for Nixon. He has presented neatly balanced budgets with a surplus of $2.4 billion for fiscal 1969 and a surplus of $3.4 billion for fiscal 1970.

But in achieving these paper balances in the black, Johnson has greatly underestimated the cost of:

● The Vietnam war.

● Research and development required to carry out budget programs.

● Replenishing military arms and supplies now at a dangerously low level as the result of the fighting in Southeast Asia.

● Buildings, equipment and supplies for a wide variety of programs throughout the government.

These hidden underestimates seem designed to require Nixon to come back for more funds. They seem aimed at insuring Nixon will end up in the red, though Johnson presented him with a budget "in the black."

Watch the news for major supplementals before June 30. The third trap Johnson has set for Nixon is in the heavily expanded "social" programs.

The Johnson budget for 1970 funnels money rapidly into a number of young, untested programs.

The experience in foreign aid, education aid and the war on poverty is that when huge amounts of money are quickly poured into unproven new programs, the inevitable result has been waste, corruption, graft, inefficiency. Current exposures of financial irregularities in New York City's poverty program are an example. Often a great deal of harm is done to the intended recipients.

This has been so in programs where the objectives were clear and the basic concepts sound. It has been even more true when the government has moved into fields in which experience was limited or objectives vague.

Yet, once in a budget proffered to Congress, it will be difficult politically for Nixon to slash away at unrealistic funding proposals. He will be accused of being insensitive to the needs of the poor, minorities and young people. Alternately, if he goes ahead at the pace outlined in Johnson's budget, the new President will leave himself open to charges of waste, bungling and mismanagement.

We imagine quite a few North American pairs reached a spade slam with today's North-South cards in the Charity tourney. Some North players might open one spade and proceed to six after a raise from partner.

Played from the North seat the slam is not too bad a contract. The location of the king of hearts doesn't matter because South can probably get rid of his queen of hearts on dummy's fourth diamond but since East held the queen of diamonds there is no way to bring home 12 tricks and the slam bidders will wind up in the soup.

North should open two no-trump with his very good 21 points. Some South players will pass and let North play two no-trump for a bad score. Those who don't use Stayman or the Jacoby transfer will respond three spades and will play at game after a raise from North. A diamond lead will hold them to four odd because the defense will take the first three tricks but most will make an over-trick after the normal club opening lead.

Stayman bidders will reach four spades with North as declarer after a three-club Stayman bid by South and three spade response by North.

The Jacoby Transfer bidders will also arrive at four spades with North as declarer. South will respond three hearts to the opening two no-trump bid. This bid shows spades and a hand of any strength from nothing on up.

North's normal reply to the three-heart transfer is a three-spade bid but this particular hand calls for stronger action. North should jump right to four spades to show that his two no-trump opening includes very good spades. Give South a slightly better hand and he will move toward a slam but with this holding South will pass contentedly.

QUICK QUIZ

Q—What was the real name of Mata Hari, the famous spy of World War I?

A—Gertrud Margarete Zelle. The Dutch-born spy, an agent for the German government, adopted the name of "Mata Hari," meaning "Eye of the Morning," in Java some years before the war.

Q—Does a tree benefit in any special way by its fall colors?

A—No. Fall colors are considered to be an incidental chemical reaction of no importance in the life of a tree.

Bugged by 'Bugs'

The report that some automobiles will soon have computers in the glove compartment is good news for the safety-conscious. One manufacturer's ads, burling about electronic checkups before the car gets off the assembly line, is worthy of the front page. Research on car crashes is really headline stuff. But, while I am waiting for more scientific marvels, I wonder if they could do something about the flying objects inside my car?

Not loose articles—I can manage those. It's the hurtling accessories I'd like them to work on. The dome light that keeps falling on my head, for example. And, the rear view mirror that drops off.

I didn't mind when the arm rest fell off because I don't want anyone leaning on the door. Also, I didn't care so much when the bolts fell off both the sun visors. However, I can't say that I like the lining of the car flapping on my shoulder.

Now, manufacturers, in case you think I am a crank (and, by the way, I could use one of THOSE because of the ignition trouble) may I say I am not the only one who is complaining.

Of course, my back window hasn't fallen out as did the one in my friend's new car. And, my windshield wipers are terrific. Actually, her wipers were great. They worked so hard she couldn't get them to turn off, so finally she just drove down to the garage. It wasn't an extra trip or anything—she had to go down anyway and have the emergency brake replaced as it had fallen into the floor.

Then another friend of mine had to have four new tires after driving only 5,000 miles. We didn't have to do that on our car. Instead, we had the front end realigned two times.

I don't know how to build a car, so I can't offer constructive suggestions. Giving credit where it is due, I must say I think they have made tremendous strides in built-in obsolescence. After all, I'll bet it isn't easy to construct a $4,000 automobile so it will fall apart in a year.

And, because they can't engineer a 10-cent bolt that will successfully hold up my mirror doesn't mean they can't build a computer. But, even with all my faith in them, I think when I next buy a car I'll just ask them to please hold the computer. What I'd rather have is a tool box.

Varicose Veins Are Not Hereditary

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q — What symptoms do varicose veins cause? Are they hereditary?

A — Uncomplicated varicosities usually cause no discomfort. In far-advanced cases there may be mild aching pains in the legs, easy fatigability and a feeling of heaviness around the ankles. Varicose veins are not hereditary but are caused by long periods of standing in one place. They often follow pregnancy and childbirth.

Q — I am 23 and have varicose veins. Can there be any complications? Is there any complete cure?

A — The usual complications are chronic leg ulcers and inflammations of the veins (phlebitis). Surgical removal of the veins or injecting them with an obliterating agent will cure them, but if the conditions that caused them persist they may return.

Q — At times bathers in the Gulf of Mexico are bothered by jellyfish. Pinpoint welts occur and later the gait becomes unsteady and one gets cramps or nausea. Is there anything the victim can do when stung to minimize the poisonous effects?

A — The results of stings by jellyfish, sea nettles or Portuguese men-of-war can be serious. Prompt local application of ammonia, alcohol or calamine lotion helps to neutralize the poison. Antihistamines will reduce the severity of the delayed symptoms. Drugs of the cortisone group have been tried with varying success.

Q — I have liver spots on my face. I know some women have them when they are pregnant but I never had them then. What causes them? What can be done for them? Are they contagious?

A — Liver spot is a vague term that is applied to different skin conditions including chloasma (the mask of pregnancy) and morphea (a skin manifestation of scleroderma), but most commonly it is applied to tinea versicolor. This is a mild fungus infection which most victims ignore because it causes no discomfort unless the spots are on the face and are considered unsightly.

Pragmatic ointment or a lotion that contains sulfur and resorcin should help you. A new prescription preparation, Tinver Lotion, has worked well on some victims. The disease is not contagious.

First Family Grooming

Good grooming for the new presidential family is being considered seriously. Pat Nixon is going to have a beauty shop in the White House for herself, her daughters and the women who work there. This makes sense. Her predecessors had to go to their favorite hairdresser's shop or have her come to the White House. This was inconvenient to both.

Mrs. Nixon may be able to persuade her New York hairdresser to come to the White House, but Eva Ruiny has a fashionable clientele there and may not want to forego such a profitable following even for the sake of the White House prestige. No matter who will serve the First Lady, having a beauty shop in the building will prove to be a great time saver for those who live and work there and even for guests who wish to use it.

The President-elect also has tonsorial problems. He pays five dollars and adds a two dollar tip to Parsicio Buhagiar, his New York barber. He shampoos his own hair which is silky and curly. The barber, a Maltese immigrant, says he will be glad to be the President's personal barber in the White House, but if he goes in for "hippie hair styles and sideburns he will have to get a new barber." So far Parsicio Buhagiar has not been invited to serve in the White House.

No one knows how the beauty shop will be financed, but if Congress can provide the funds for keeping the women beautiful on the Hill, surely it can provide one for the ladies in the White House.

Holding Company Idea Growing Among Banks

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — For a price in excess of $300 million the First National City Corp. is presently in the process of acquiring one of the nation's major insurance concerns, the Chubb Corp.

But isn't First City a bank, you say? And what is a bank doing with an insurance company?

In answer to the first question, yes, the First City is a bank, but a holding company has now been superimposed atop it. Secondly, the bank isn't to be the owner of the insurer; the holding company is.

First City Bank, still the third largest in the nation, now is just one subsidiary of the holding company. Chubb will be another.

And excluding the informed opinion of company executives, it's anyone's guess as to what acquisition is next.

One respected analyst asks in print: "What is to prevent a large financial conglomerate from acquiring a large steel, electronic or automobile company?" And it answers: "Absolutely nothing."

First City's purchase points up the enormous power of this now rampant strain of corporate life, the so-called one-bank holding company, sometimes referred to as the department store of finance.

The concept, though not new, had lain somewhat dormant. In 1966 Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., counted 425 of them. But in the past year it appears there have been at least 50 new ones, some of them quite large.

The one-bank holding company is simply a concern organized as a general business corporation. It is unlike the registered bank holding company, which is a banking concern with holdings of at least 25 per cent in two banks.

Because it is registered as a banking concern, the registered bank holding company is prohibited from activities unrelated to banking. It must register with the Federal Reserve and needs approval of the Federal Reserve Board for expansion.

The one-bank concept avoids this. In fact, no specific federal agency controls all its activities. It can acquire, diversify, merge with other companies with little at all to do with the Reserve Board.

First City, which even as a bank was straining to diversify, decided last year to take on the new form. Its first major move was into insurance, but seemingly it is free now to acquire a mutual fund, expand its travel advisory services, and sell computer services if it chooses.

Such interrelationships obviously mean savings, for the customer of one frequently is the customer of another.

Garden Club News

Garden Club No. 8 held their January meeting at the home of Mrs. Earl Thomas, President. Mrs. Cecil Bohon presided during the business session reports were heard.

Cards were sent to shut-ins and plans were made for the new year.

The topic of the month, "God Gave It, Let's Save It," was presented by the president with an excerpt from the book of Genesis.

Awards for the month were given to Mrs. Earl Thomas, exhibits and horticulture, and Mrs. Pearl Wheeler, horticulture.

Garden Club No. 3 met at the Coffee Pot Cafe Jan. 10 with Mrs. George Erno, hostess, and Mrs. Harriett Shaw, assisting hostess. Mrs. Shaw read the club collect to the eleven members present.

Special guest speaker, Bill Rader, presented the topic for the month, "God Gave It, Let's Save It." Rader discussed the human responsibility of preserving nature's resources. At the present time, he said, man is conscious of this duty and the United States is consequently the most advanced country in the conservation field.

Portraits of Johnsons

These color portraits of former President and Mrs. Johnson, painted by Madam Elizabeth Shoumatoff, of Locust Valley, Long Island, N. Y., will be hung in the White House. In the painting the President is wearing a charcoal gray suit with a white shirt, and a deep maroon and dark blue striped tie. The pin in his lapel denotes the Silver Star. Mrs. Johnson is seated, wearing a soft yellow chiffon gown. (UPI)

State Income Tax Help Available

JEFFERSON CITY — The State Department of Revenue has again made available free taxpayer assistance through two free incoming WATS (Wide-Area Telephone Service) lines. Beginning Feb. 3, and extending through April 15, Missourians may dial 800-392-3473 and be connected with Revenue Department auditors in Jefferson City who will answer questions pertaining to the state income tax. Special lines from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. operators will man the WATS Monday through Friday.

Villanova Downs Detroit, Johnny Jones Tells Tale

By HERSCHEL NISSENSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Guess who won the Spencer Haywood-Howard Porter battle? Johnny Jones, that's who.

A sellout crowd turned out at the Philadelphia Palestra Wednesday night to watch two of the country's most highly touted sophomores—Haywood of Detroit and Porter of Villanova—go at each other. But when the shooting died down it turned out to be Jones and zones that told the story as Villanova, ranked 11th in The Associated Press college basketball poll, ran away with a 93-71 victory.

Villanova led 46-45 with 15:43 left to play but the Wildcats suddenly went on a 25-5 tear over the next six minutes to wrap things up. Porter had 11 points during that stretch and Jones six.

Jones, a 6-foot-4 senior from Pompano Beach, Fla., finished with 37 points, a career high, 22 of them in the first half, as Villanova ran its record to 12-2. He also had 12 rebounds. Porter added 28 while Olympic hero Haywood, held to 12 points in the first 30 minutes, wound up with 25.

Villanova clamped one of Coach Jack Kraft's patented sagging zones around Haywood. "I'd like to think that our zone had something to do with stopping him," Kraft said—and the Titans were unable to penetrate it with much success.

The only other ranked team to see action was No. 9 La Salle, which turned back upset-minded Pennsylvania 78-64 in the second half of the Palestra twin bill.

The Explorers, 13-1, made 36 of 40 free throws to score a come-from-behind victory over the Ivy Leaguers, who had stunned Villanova last week with a slowdown game.

La Salle ran off 15 straight points in the second half to seal the triumph. Larry Cannon took scoring honors with 21 points, 18 in the second half.

There was only a smattering of major games elsewhere across the nation.

Sophomore Willie Bryant scored a key basket with four minutes left and stole a pass to set up another score second later as Penn State outlasted favored West Virginia 64-62.

Calvin Murphy of Niagara, the nation's second leading scorer, was held to 22 points, his season's low, but the Purple Eagles got by Buffalo 79-76. Murphy's three free throws, one thanks to a technical foul against Buffalo Coach Len Serfustini—put Niagara ahead to stay 69-68.

Gary Brown's free throw with six seconds left enabled Westminster of Pennsylvania to edge Pitt 65-64. Terry Driscoll's 28 points and 18 rebounds paced Boston College over Seton Hall 84-56 in the Eagles' first game since Coach Bob Cousy announced he would retire at season's end.

Bowling Green trailed Toledo until the final two minutes when Dan McLemore's rebound basket and two foul shots by Dick Rudgers gave the Falcons a 64-63 Mid-American Conference victory.

In another Mid-American clash, Western Michigan piled up an 11-point lead and then held off league-leading Miami of Ohio 71-66. Toke Coleman and Bobby Washington scored 21 points apiece as Eastern Kentucky downed Virginia Tech 73-65.

Forecast Mars Crosby Tourney

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Think Sun read the big sign at the Bing Crosby Golf Tournament.

A bulky field of 137 pros and an equal number of amateurs began four days of play over three courses with the weatherman saying it would be cloudy with rain likely in the afternoon, southerly winds 20-25 miles per hour and temperatures in the 50s. No rain was forecast for Friday.

This picturesque Monterey Peninsula has been drenched with rain the past several days leaving the Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Spyglass Hill courses heavy and probably unplayable.

Defending champion Johnny Pott of Gulf Hills, Miss., sees the wind off the Pacific Ocean providing a greater hazard than the wetness.

Crosby's tournament, dubbed a clambake back when a much smaller group combined golf with social activities, officially is know as the national pro-amateur.

Of the $150,000 total purse, $125,000 is divided among the leading pros with $25,000 going to the pros on the top pro-amateur teams, and they figure in the amateur's handicap in counting the best-ball scores.

Celebrities from fields of entertainment, business, sports and the professions are numbered among the players.

Don Cherry has Dean Martin as a partner, Bert Yancey plays with Andy Williams, Bob Rosburg with John Brodie, Ken Still with Don Drysdale, and Dave Stockton with Leonard Firestone.

Jack Nicklaus plays his first tournament of 1969 at the Crosby and quipped that maybe his luck would be better at Las Vegas. The fourth Nicklaus youngster, Gary Thomas, was born last Wednesday weighing seven pounds, 11 ounces, and 7-11 are winning numbers in Nevada.

Missing from the entry list were Julius Boros, the PGA champion of last season, and Charlie Sifford, the leading money winner so far this young year.

SPORT SHORTS

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
MADRID (AP) — The Spanish Boxing Federation said today it plans to ask the World Boxing Council to suspend George Smith, the Scottish referee, who ruled Johnny Farnchon of Australia the winner over Spain's Jose Legra in their world featherweight title bout Tuesday.

Roberto Duque, president of the federation, said Smith had committed a great mistake in his decision.

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Hull, the Chicago Black Hawks' scoring star; Hall of Fame defenseman Eddie Shore and Western Hockey League President Al Leader were nominated Monday for the 1969 Lester Patrick Trophy, awarded annually for outstanding service to hockey in the United States.

A Perfect Shot Brings Victory

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Oakland Oaks, who waited so long for Rick Barry to join them, did perfectly well without him until George Stane ruined them with a last second perfect shot.

Stone's 22-foot jumper brought the Los Angeles Stars a 123-121 victory over the Oaks at Los Angeles Wednesday night, ending their 16-game winning streak.

The Oaks, galloping off with the Western Division of the American Basketball Association, were 25-4 when Barry suffered a knee injury Dec. 27.

But without Barry, who had to sit out a year before joining Oakland, the Oaks compiled a 10-0 mark until Stone took a pass with three seconds left while his coach, Bill Sharman, pleaded for a time out, and dropped in the winner. He finished with 31 points.

Denver thus cut Oakland's lead to 10 games with a 124-103 victory over the New York Nets at home.

In other games, Kentucky and Indiana remained deadlocked for second place in the East, 3½ games behind idle Minnesota, as the visiting Colonels nudged Dallas 104-102 and the Pacers routed Miami 140-117 at Indianapolis. New Orleans stopped

In First Round

Light heavyweight champion Bob Foster knocked Frank DePaula to the canvas during the first round of their title bout in New York Wednesday night. Foster knocked DePaula down three times in the round for a TKO victory. (UPI).

Foster Win Rates High On His Soft Touch List

NEW YORK (AP) — Light heavyweight champion Bob Foster said it wasn't his easiest fight. But his first-round technical knockout of outmatched Frankie De Paula in a title defense at Madison Square Garden Wednesday night has to rate high up on any fighter's soft touch list.

It took the stork-legged, 6-foot-3½ champ from Washington, D.C., just 2 minutes, 17 seconds to drop the 5-8½ challenger from Jersey City, N.J., on the canvas three times. Under New York's three knockdowns in one round rule, the fight was automatically over for the 5-1 underdog.

In that brief period of time, Foster, who once fought for $23 and quit the ring in disgust when he couldn't get any fights, earned about $75,000 from the gross gate of $189,129 contributed by 16,129 fans and the television.

Most of the fans came from New Jersey to root for the crude but hard-hitting night club bouncer. Frankie at least earned about $37,500 to make up for his ruffled feelings.

Foster, winner of 13 straight including 12 knockouts, and his manager, Mushky Salow, plan today to go over a stack of offers for title defenses.

Salow said he had offers totalling more than $300,000 for defenses against Gregorio Peralta in Argentina; Peiro Del Papa in Italy; Bob Dunlap in Australia; Yvan Preberg in Yugoslavia, and Jose Torres in Puerto Rico.

The Garden offered a shot at the winner of the heavyweight fight here Feb. 3 between George Chuvalo and Buster Mathis, but Salow said "we'll take Joe Frazier or Jimmy Ellis with pleasure."

Frazier, of Philadelphia, and Ellis, of Louisville, both hold a piece of the disputed heavyweight title.

De Paula gave the partisan crowd one brief moment of hope early in the first round when he had the champ on the deck. Foster went down from a left to the body but it looked more like a slip since the blow had little steam behind it.

But referee Johnny LoBianco gave the 30-year-old champ the mandatory eight-count.

"I told the referee that it was

NHL Score Lead May Be Broken

CHICAGO (AP) — A Christmas poke in the jaw, among other things, has the five-year stranglehold by Chicago's Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita on the National Hockey League scoring crown in danger of being broken.

At the All-Star game break this week, Boston's Phil Esposito stood five points ahead of runnerup Hull, the wire-jawed Golden Jet, and 12 points ahead of fourth-place Mikita, slumping defending champion.

It was the first time since Dec. 5, 1967, that neither Mikita, scoring titlist four of the past five seasons, nor Hull goal-making champ the past three seasons, has led the NHL point race.

Briefly in December of 1967, Boston's John Bucyk held the top spot. Week after week since then, either Mikita or Hull was in front, including the remainder of the 1967-68 campaign and the current season.

Esposito, a four-season Black Hawk until his May 15, 1967 trade to the Bruins, takes a 67-point total against the Detroit Red Wings tonight. Hull resumes here against Philadelphia tonight with 62, still top in goals with 30, one more than Esposito, but trailing the bustling Bruin in assists, 38 to 32.

With due respect to Esposito's hot pace, it's a wonder Hull has been able to play at all since Dec. 25 when his jaw was broken against Toronto and he since has played with elastics binding together his upper and lower teeth.

"I'm getting worried about Bobby's loss of weight because of the liquid diet he's on," said Black Hawk coach Billy Reay. "It's making him weaker and there's still several weeks before he'll be able to eat and breathe regularly."

At that, Hull has kept pursuing the Art Ross Trophy, emblematic of the scoring title, with eight goals and six assists in 12 games despite breathing difficulties and his tender, immobilized jaw.

Mikita, who won the last two scoring titles and had another two-year championship sweep snapped in 1955-56 by Hull, hasn't had more than his usual bangs and bruises.

Players Plan Special Meet On Pensions

NEW YORK (AP) — Major league baseball players will hold a special meeting in New York Monday, Feb. 3, to decide whether to carry out a threatened strike for higher pension benefits.

The players voted 461 to 6 last week to reject the club owners' offer to increase contributions to the pension fund by $1 million for a total of $5.1 million.

Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, announced Wednesday the situation had reached an impasse and that several players from each club will attend the Feb. 3 meeting to determine a course of action.

Many top stars, including Willie Mays, Mickey Mantle, Bob Gibson and Carl Yastrzemski, have endorsed the Association's policy of not signing 1969 contracts until a satisfactory benefit plan is worked out.

Spring training is scheduled to begin next month and indications are that unsigned players will not report unless a pension agreement is reached.

In a prepared statement, Miller charged the owners with mounting a national campaign to undermine the Players' Association. He said, "If ever there was an industry hell bent on its own destruction it is, unfortunately, that of the 'great national pastime.'"

Astros Making More Trades

HOUSTON (AP) — When the Houston Astros finished in the National League cellar last season General Manager H. B. "Spec" Richardson said there were "no untouchables" on the squad.

He proved it Wednesday when he announced that Rusty Staub, the Astros' top hitter, had been traded to the new National League Montreal club for first baseman Donn Clendenon and outfielder Jesus Alou.

Clendenon and Alou were the third and fourth major league players to be acquired in trades by Houston since the end of the 1968 season. Previously acquired were catcher John Edwards from the St. Louis Cardinals and Curt Blefary from the Baltimore Orioles.

Big Chief Meets Little Ones At WAFB

Whiteman AFB — One big Chief and several little Chiefs met for an informal Pow-Wow Monday night at Whiteman Air Force Base. Ed Lothamer, the Kansas City Chiefs' defensive tackle, presented individual trophies to the "Chiefs," Whiteman's Youth Flag Football winners of 1968.

The six-foot-five, 270-pound tackle presented the trophies to the little Chiefs for playing a 9-1 season and clinching the base championship. Coach for the team was SSgt. St. Augustine Cranford, who is a member of the 351st Security Police Squadron at Whiteman.

Other teams participating in the program were the Packers, Jets, Falcons, Lions and the Browns. Each team honored its most valuable and most improved players participating in the Youth Flag Football program.

Ed Lothamer, who has played with the Kansas City Chiefs since 1964, hails from Detroit, Michigan. A graduate of Michigan State, he played offensive end in college and was a member of the 1964 College All-Star team. Lothamer, a judo and karate enthusiast, is married and has two children.

Richardson said there could be even more trades.

The popular Staub, one of Houston's first big bonus players in 1961, hit .291 last season. He finished with a .333 average in 1967 after leading the National League for a good portion of the season.

The 24-year-old redhead, who plays both first base and right field, had a .273 lifetime batting average in six seasons.

Alou and Clendenon went to Montreal in the recent expansion draft, Alou from the San Francisco Giants and Clendenon from the Pittsburgh Pirates. Alou, 25, hit .263 with the Giants. Clendenon, 33, hit .257 for the Pirates.

Both Alou and Clendenon have lifetime batting averages of .280, and are right-handed hitters.

The Astros have dealt about 30 players, coming and going, since Richardson took over as general manager late in 1967.

Since October Richardson has dealt away such players as Staub, pitchers Dave Guisti and Mike Cuellar, and third baseman Bob Aspromonte.

Richardson called the Staub trade "the toughest decision since I have been in baseball."

"But when you're in 10th place you got to move," he said. Walker said, "Houston now has the strongest team in its history."

"We've added speed, power and defense, but have lost one of the finest hitters in baseball," he said.

"We have balanced our right-handed hitting with our left-handed hitting, and have filled one of our outfield spots."

"We've added four players in Edwards, Blefary, Alou and Clendenon who know what it takes to be a winning ball club," Walker added. "I think they will be able to help our younger players."

In Montreal, Jim Fanning, general manager of the Expos, expressed satisfaction with the acquisition of Staub. "This man is a batting champion," enthused Fanning.

"Beautiful, beautiful, beautiful," said Manager Gene Mauch, when informed of the trade in Los Angeles. "Staub could lead the league in batting twice over the next five years."

ter and money for both.

And, when the season had ended, McLain had posted 31 victories—becoming the first pitcher to reach the 30-victory plateau since Dizzy Dean in 1934—and was on his way to a Las Vegas opening dress in mink.

In the balloting by sports writers and broadcasters, McLain was rewarded with 108 first-place votes and amassed a total of 517 points on the basis of three points for first place, two for second and one for third.

Only three other athletes received more than 200 points—Simpson, pitcher Bob Gibson of the St. Louis Cardinals and quarterback Earl Morrall of the Baltimore Colts, the only pro football player able to crack the Top Ten.

The poll, however, was taken before the Super Bowl game, which will become a part of the 1969 voting, and therefore does not reflect the stunning upset pulled off by quarterback Joe Namath in leading the New York Jets to a 16-7 victory over the Colts.

Simpson, the workhorse running back who almost certainly will be selected by the Buffalo Bills as the No. 1 pick in next week's pro football draft, was the runner-up in the voting with 64 first and 423 points.

Gibson, despite beating McLain in two World Series confrontations, finished a distant third with 57 firsts and 302 points. Morrall, who led the Colts to the National Football League championship in place of injured Johnny Unitas, received 39 first and 240 points.

Rounding out the Top Ten were dicus thrower Al Oerter, 180 points; long jumper Bob Beamon, 111; decathlon star Bill Toomey, 102; hockey star Gordie Howe, 72; skier Jean Claude Killy, 64, and golfer Billy Casper, 49.

Namath, who led the Jets to the American Football League championship, received four first-place votes and 29 points.

Baseball's domination of the poll began in 1961 with Roger Maris. Maury Wills and Sandy Koufax then made it three in a row for the sport before Schollander broke the hold. Koufax, Frank Robinson, Carl Yastrzemski and McLain now have made baseball the first sport to ever have four consecutive winners.

Put Multiple Pictures
In a Big Single Frame

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—If Mrs. R. D. B. wants to hang framed pictures of her children, she can mount a panel of perforated hard board, paint it the same color as the wall and hang all the school pictures on the little hooks that are for inserting in the holes.

To hang unframed pictures, she could tack a length of hopsacking to a one-inch lath, attach picture wire or a pretty cord to each end of the lath and hang. Pictures could be mounted on this with gold, silver or colored plastic adhesive-backed tape, outlining each picture like a frame. Youngsters seem to love this.—MRS. C. P.

DEAR POLLY—I want to tell Mrs. R. D. B. that I have three children, so I took three large picture frames, put a typed poem called "What Is a Boy?" in the middle of the one for my son, leaving enough room for pictures to go all around the poem. The girls' frames have a poem called "What Is a Girl?" I have these hanging in a hallway where they are real conversation pieces.—MRS. C. D. P.

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. R. D. B. should get one large picture frame for all of each child's pictures. The size will depend on the number of pictures she thinks she will want in it. My only child, a daughter, is now a nun and I had pictures of her all over the living room so that it looked like a picture gallery. They started when she was a baby and went through school, beauty contests, various stages in her religious order until obtaining her nun's habit. You can imagine what the pictures looked like. A priest came to call and, when he saw them, asked if he could make a suggestion. He said, "Take all those pictures out of the frames, get one large one and put them all in it." I did and it is beautiful. My living room is no longer cluttered as 11 of my favorite photographs are in one frame, with space left for some more.—MRS. R. K.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I have charge of fund raising for our high school girls' organization. I do hope some other students will give us some ideas about how they make money. Thank you very much.—BETTY

DEAR POLLY—I have found that wash-and-wear slacks retain their color longer if turned to the wrong side before washing. I do this with all my boys' pants and the blue jeans certainly stay blue longer.—GLADYS.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY—I do think this sharing of ideas is such a wonderful thing. I, too, have a problem. Can a wall-type can opener be sharpened?—VERA

Aftermath of Feud: An Easing of Tensions

(First of Two Parts.)
By LEE MUELLER
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Strange, it seems only last month that Gardner Dickinson wiped off his sand wedge, stuffed it into his bag and settled down for a long, unpleasant chat with the Professional Golfers Association.

Now it's that time again. After the customary month layoff, the professional golf tour again is beginning to stir in California—out where the sun is warm and the land is conducive to pitch-and-run shots. To the surprise of many, it is still called the PGA tour.

Dickinson, it seems, was president of a now-dissolved organization called the American Professional Golfers Association which wanted, among other things, nothing to do with the PGA.

The group, composed largely of the pro tour's main attractions, said it wanted to and was capable of running its own show. The PGA, it said, was more hindrance than help.

The PGA, meanwhile, said the APG was an ingrate, collectively speaking, of course.

Time and several bitter words have passed, however, and at last—nay, at long last—the PGA and the touring professionals have settled their differences. It only took 30 years.

Exactly where victory lies is a debatable question, and a testy one. The players have one more member than the PGA on the tour's policy board, which is what they wanted. The PGA still has its name and considerable power on the tour, which is what it wanted.

The end result is that the 1969 tour is little different from its predecessors. On the surface, the only noticeable change is the annual increase in prize money. Last year it was $5 million. This year the expected figure is $6 million.

Underneath, however, is another story. The tensions that welled out of the dispute have eased. Nearly everyone involved is relieved.

"I feel as if a Mack truck moved off my head," said Dickinson, preparing for California.

"We did some giving and the PGA did some giving. That's the way to settle an argument, isn't it? And I'm sure as far as the golfing public is concerned, we've got to be better off not fighting."

In the heat of the APG-PGA battle, there was considerable mention of greed. Several newspapers expressed total impatience with the entire uproar. "All they're doing is hurting golf," a New York columnist wrote.

Gardner Dickinson

"... our side won't rock the boat"

Whether the feud hurt golf remains a moot point. The real point, as far as the PGA and players are concerned, is that it's over and both are relatively satisfied. Dickinson, for one, does not anticipate a return bout.

"I don't see how the dispute could be renewed," he said, "unless some terrible people are elected to the board. Personally, I don't think we have any terrible people... I know there won't be anybody on our side to rock the boat."

So, the pro tour, 1969, is rolling. From California, it moves eastward in February to Arizona and then to Florida and North Carolina before settling in Augusta, Ga., for the Masters in April.

The magic that draws thousands to golf courses each year was still intact at last observation. This year, Robert De Vincenzo might win the Masters; Lee Elder might beat Jack Nicklaus; Arnold Palmer might win a big one; Lee Trevino might, well, he might do anything.

It is improbable, though, that the new tour will offer either the high adventure or soppy melodrama of 1968. But it can try.

New Stars Shine in Little Groups

(Last of Two Parts.)
By LEE MUELLER
NEA Sports Writer

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It's a phenomenon Byron Nelson observes from time to time, so you can take it for what it's worth:

(Hint: To anyone connected with golf, anything Byron Nelson observes is worth plenty.)

Out of the underbrush every 10 years or so tromp three or four or five rabbits who, before his astute eyes, transform themselves into crowned princes of the professional golf tour.

Fairy tale? Hardly.

"It's an odd thing," says Nelson, one of golf's all-time greats. "If you notice, they always come in groups. It won't ever be just one man. It's always three or four or five."

Nelson, obviously, has reference to the fellows who came from anonymity last year to challenge the Caspers, Nicklauses and Palmers for PGA gold.

Rookies and near-rosies like Bob Murphy, Bob Lunn, Bob Dickson, B. R. (Mac) McLendon and Marty Fleckman now draw high praise from this man known as one of golf's outstanding teachers.

From this group, Nelson says, may come the sport's next so-called "Big Three."

"Jones, Hagen and Sarazen all came along at the same time," he said. "Then there was Hogan, Snead and myself. Now there's Palmer, Nicklaus, Player and Casper."

"No one man can dominate this game but you'll always find that there'll be this one small group that will predominate."

Here, then, is Nelson's look at each member of his potential "small group":

• Murphy, who won $105,845 and two tournaments, "did better than I expected him to. His swing is not that impressive, but he has two things that really go for him. One, he hits a fading drive that stays in play and, two, he's an excellent putter—one of the best out there. They say that's all you have to do to win out there—drive and putt—and he's proved it.

"However, he did most of his winning in a three-week period. I don't think he has the potential to be a winner over a longer period of time."

• Lunn, who won $102,711 and back-to-back tournaments, "has proved to be a very consistent player. He has very sound mechanical movements. His swing is very repeatable and he appears to have an excellent future."

• Dickson, who won $46,457 and a tournament, "knows his own ability. It appears he plays within himself and good discipline is important. Here's a man with an excellent golf swing but he had a problem: He hooked the ball too much. I'd have to rate him very high."

• McLendon, who won $40,465 and a tournament, "has a reasonable short back-swing and does rather well with it. He has worked a loop into his swing but it hasn't bothered him. He's a very fine golfer."

• Fleckman, who won only $27,570 and no tournaments, is still Nelson's favorite pupil. "Marty still has problems about making up his mind about which way he's going to play. You can't get out there and change your mind about your game. He's got to make a decision and put all the other ways out of his mind."

"Marty has great potential. He has the length, drive and desire to make a great player. He was third in distance off the tee, but he'll have to learn to keep the ball in the fairway. He hit only 52 per cent of his fairways, which is not good."

Other established young players' like Tom Weiskopf and Tony Jacklin, also are candidates for future domination of the game, Nelson said.

"It's hard to say who they (the next "Big Three") will be," he pointed out. "That's the difference between my era and this one. The quality of the top players when I played was just as good as it is now. We just didn't have so many good ones."

76ers Edge the Knicks In Double Overtime Tilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knickerbockers got along without Cazzie Russell longer than expected, but they never could find a way to do without Philadelphia's blazing Billy Cunningham.

Cunningham drilled in 44 points—his career high in the National Basketball Association—as the 76ers overcame a 17-point second half deficit and edged the Knicks 140-137 in double overtime Wednesday night.

New York, playing without scoring ace Russell, who broke an ankle Tuesday night against Seattle, led from the opening minute until Hal Greer's jump shot with two seconds remaining in regulation play pulled the 76ers even at 118-118.

Willis Reed, who led Knick scorers with 37 points, sent the game into the second overtime with a free throw that knotted it 128-128. But the Knicks then ran out of steam as Cunningham sparked the 76ers' decisive spurt.

The victory lifted the 76ers within three games of Baltimore's Eastern Division leaders, who bowed to Seattle 98-94. Chicago stunned Boston 95-94, Detroit nipped Los Angeles 116-115 and Atlanta whipped Phoenix 125-107 in other games.

In the American Basketball Association, New Orleans topped Houston 121-117. Kentucky shaded Dallas 104-102, Denver ripped New York 124-103, Indiana blitzed Miami 140-117 and Los Angeles beat Oakland 123-121.

Cunningham triggered a late Philadelphia rally that closed the Knicks' 69-52 third quarter lead to 118-114 with 22 seconds to go in the fourth period. Chet Walker drove for a layup, cutting the deficit to two points, then stole a long New York pass, setting up Greer's tying jumper.

After a ragged first overtime, the Knicks grabbed a three-point edge, only to fold as Greer Cunningham and Walker ignited the winning burst.

Seattle, which had lost five in a row and 18 of its previous starts, snapped the Bullets' five-game winning streak as Lennie Wilkens dropped in five key points in the final 1½ minutes. Wilkens finished with 22 points, two more than teammate Bob Rule. Kevin Loughery paced Baltimore with 27.

The Bulls upended Boston behind the clutch shooting and rebounding of Barry Clemens and Jim Washington in the last three minutes. The Bulls who trailed by as many as 15 points, broke a 78-78 deadlock on four straight points by Washington and stayed on top the rest of the way.

The loss dropped Boston one game behind Philadelphia in the eighth Eastern race.

Detroit squandered a 23-point bulge against the Lakers before hanging on in a frantic final minute. Bill Hewitt's jumper drew Los Angeles within one point with 54 seconds to play, but teammate Fred Crawford blew three free throw attempts and Elgin Baylor missed a driving layup just before the buzzer.

Eddie Miles scored 25 points, Walt Bellamy 24, Dave Bing 21 and Happy Hairston 20 for the Pistons. Jerry West's 28 topped the Lakers.

Atlanta's Bill Bridges and Zelmo Beaty gunned down the Suns at Phoenix, scoring 24 and 21 points, respectively. The Hawks broke open a tight duel with a 19-5 explosion late in the third period.

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP)—Fort Nelson was made the early 5-2 favorite today for the $25,000 final in the Snowball Pacing Series at Yonkers Raceway Saturday night.

Kennedy May Try For the Presidency

Rescue Failed

Rescuers discuss search plans as tractor which carried ten men and boys to their death remains in Sespe Creek near Santa Paula, Calif. Six of the victims were boys who had been led with two adults from their cabin in Los Padres National Forest, where they had been camping, by a three-man rescue team that also disappeared when the tractor became stalled in the creek. (UPI)

Water Rose Too Fast for Rescue

EDITOR'S NOTE: Six boys and four men are believed to have died when a bulldozer carrying them to safety stalled in a raging stream as flood waters rose quickly. This is the account by the only known survivor, a 28-year-old school teacher.

By JOHN SCOTT ECKERSLEY
As told to The Associated Press
OJAI, Calif. (AP) — We all knew it was more or less the end.

The boys were absolutely beautiful. No screaming. No hysteria. Only calm acceptance of the fact of what was to follow.

We all prayed, even the youngsters.

One by one, someone would call out he couldn't hang on any longer. The water in a cloud-burst rose so fast it stalled the bulldozer in the middle of the river. It was quickly up to our necks.

There was no time to talk about how to get to the bank. We all began to get numb and slip away.

The Navy petty officer was the first to go. He went quickly.

"We talked about death and dying as the water kept rising. He said the Lord had it all planned. Maybe five minutes later he slipped off, and I held him another five minutes.

Then the kids went one by one and their leader.

Soon only two of us were left, a deputy sheriff and I. He was washed by a heavy swell on top of me. I held on to him but lost hold and we both went in.

I went under several times and I don't remember much after that.

When I came to, I was lying in a pool. I crawled up the bank into some thick brush, dug a hole in the mud, squeezed inside and covered myself to keep warm.

In the morning I walked upstream about four miles and came across a stalled vehicle which had provisions and blankets in it.

I made myself comfortable for the rest of the day. Near darkness I saw a helicopter overhead. I flagged it down and it landed and hauled me in.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy is dropping broad hints that he may bid for the presidency in 1972—the office one brother died in and another was slain seeking.

He disguised many of the hints in humor Wednesday night at a dinner to raise money to erase the 1968 campaign deficit of his assassinated brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

But he also said of his brother, who was shot in Los Angeles just after proclaiming victory in the state's presidential primary last June 5:

"The campaign of 1968 never really ended in California because it remains with all of us."

"He often said, 'We have promises to keep.' And these are the promises which will bring all of us together so many times in the future."

For Ted Kennedy, 36, who previously has carefully avoided talk of a 1972 presidential bid, the other references to that prospect were jocular.

"My mother," he said, "called to say she had read that our new President wasn't going to use the Oval Room in the White House. She said she thought someone ought to use it."

Then, addressing some 2,500 who had paid at least $100 each to reduce the Robert Kennedy campaign deficit, he added: "We're looking into that."

The applause was sustained, the laughter minimal.

Kennedy said he had read numerous stories that there would be a Muskie-Kennedy ticket—or maybe a Kennedy-Muskie ticket—running for the Democratic party in 1972.

"Let me just say," he bantered, "that Ed Muskie hasn't picked a vice president yet."

And after a long pause: "And neither have I."

Among his applauding listeners was former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, who has on occasion expressed to Kennedy the confidence that he will lead the nation one day. He was applauding loudly, too.

Although Kennedy has studiously avoided the 1972 candidacy he collected a number of valuable IOUs in the Democrats' unsuccessful 1968 campaign — first by refusing to accept a draft for the presidential nomination, then by discreetly, during his period of mourning, campaigning via television film for Democratic congressional candidates.

The dinner was the fourth such occasion planned to help erase the estimated $3.5 million debt rolled up by Robert Kennedy in the 1968 presidential primaries. A last extravaganza has been tentatively set for Los Angeles in March.

Those who came up with $500 Wednesday night got to ride a bus to Edward Kennedy's house for a nightcap.

Even if all dinners sell out, the deficit is expected to linger at $1 million. But the Democratic National Committee has voted to chip in that much. It too, has an eye on 1972.
